Construction Firm Plans To Buy Control of Marion Power Shovel

CLAIMS VICTORY IN ARKANSAS. A smiling Sen. John McClelland (D-Ark) hugs a well-wisher at his headquarters in Little Rock, Ark. as he claims a primary victory over three opponents for his seat in the Arkansas primary. His nearest opponent was former Gov. Sid McMath, who has refused to concede until returns are certified.

Churchill in Trouble

Tories Raise Fuss Over Loss of Suez

LONDON (AP) — A serious Conservative party rift over Britain's Suez Canal Zone pact with Egypt handed the Laborite opposition a tempting chance today to force the resignation of Prime Minister Churchill. It was doubtful the Socialists would seize the chance.

The test comes in a House of Commons vote tonight on Churchill's motion demanding Parliament's approval of the agreement to pull Britain's 83,000 troops out of the strategic Canal Zone.

Group of 40 Rebels

A group of 40 rebellious Conservatives, angered at seeing another bit of Britain's dwindling empire crumble away, have served notice they will vote against the government.

With only a nominal Conservative majority of 20 votes in the 625-member House, Churchill thus was in the uncomfortable position of having to depend on his Socialist opponents for the supprt necessary to put his policy across.

The ticklish situation in Commons was one of several troubles currently plaguing the old warrior who has yet shown no inclination to heed the urging of his wife and doctors that he retire.

In the House of Lords there was an almost unprecedented scene last night as Lord Reading, minister of state for foreign affairs, set forth the government's position in support of the Suez agreement. Angered peers, who normally support the government, complained they had no time to study the pact. They became silent only after the house leader, Lord Salisbury, one of Churchill's closest advisers, withdrew the request.

Cabinet Shakeup

Churchill was harassed also by a Cabinet shakeup following the resignation of two of his Cabinet ministers. A third also announced he had submitted his resignation, but there was no indication whether it would be accepted.

Abroad, Greece served notice she would bring her demand for Cyprus before the United Nations despite Britain's decision to grant the colony a constitution that would advance it nearer to self-rule. The Churchill government served notice yesterday Britain plans to hold on to the fortress island in the Mediterranean, to which she plans to shift troops from the Suez.

Laborite members of Commons were thoroughly enjoying the Conservatives' dilemma but they kept their plans to themselves.

Most observers thought the Socialists could not vote Churchill out on the Suez issue without compromising their own principles. The official policy of the Labor party has long been in favor of pulling British troops out of the Canal Zone.

Stock Swap Proposed by N.Y. Concern

Merritt-Chapman Co. Aims To Acquire 80 Per Cent of Common

The Merritt - Chapman & Scott Corp. of New York today announced plans for acquiring a major interest in the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Louis F. Wolfson, chairman and president of Merritt-Chapman, a leading engineering, construction and salvage company, said an agreement has been reached to purchase the holdings of The Ohio Co., a Columbus investment firm, in the Marion Power Shovel.

Exchange of Stock

The purchase would be affected through the exchange of three shares of Merritt-Chapman & Scott for each two shares of Marion Power Shovel common.

His company will make the same offer to other common stockholders, Wolfson said.

The New York construction firm plans to purchase up to 80 per cent of the 276,815 shares of Shovel common now outstanding, he said.

3 Directors on Board

Merritt - Chapman already has three officers and directors on the board of the Marion company. They were elected April 5. They are William Denny, executive vice president and general manager and a director; Elkin B. Gerbert and Alexander Rittmaster, directors

John P. Courtright, president of Marion Power Shovel Co., today said the plans announced in New York have been under analysis and discussion for sometime and will be recommended, by him, to the shareholders of Marion Power Shovel.

Diversification Step

Wolfson said the proposed acquisition of Marion Power Shovel was another step in Merritt-Chapman & Scott's planned program for still further diversification of operation, which in additon to construction of all types, presently includes steel products, marine salvage and derrick heavy hoisting.

In the event of the acquisition, Merritt-Chapman plans to work for an expansion of Marion operations, Wolfson said.

Marion Power Shovel manufactures a variety of excavating equipment and cranes used by the mining and construction industry. It recently acquired a controlling interest in the Osgood Co., which manufactures a smaller line of power shovels and cranes and also engages in a foundry business for the manufacture of steel castings.

As part of its plan for acquisition of Marion, Merritt-Chapman & Scott also will offer to acquire the outstanding stock of the Osgood Company now held by Marion.

Offer To Shareholders

The Merritt - Chapman offer, which will be extended directly to the company's shareholders, will provide for an exchange of shares on the basis of three shares of Merritt-Chapman & Scott common for two shares of Marion common.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott will propose to acquire at least an 80 per cent interest in Marion but will reserve the right to accept a lesser percentage. It is expected that the approximately 13,000 shares of Marion Power Shovel's seven per cent preferred stock now outstanding will be called for redemption prior to the effective date of the Merritt-Chapman & Scott offer.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott's offer to shareholders of the Osgood Company, which will provide for an exchange on the basis of two shares of Merritt-Chapman & Scott common for three shares of Osgood A & B stocks, will be conditional upon acquisition by Merritt-Chapman & Scott of a substantial interest in Marion.

Enters Steel Business

One of the nation's leading construction companies and also active in the fields of marine salvage and derrick heavy hoisting, Merritt-Chapman & Scott recently entered the steel business as part of its diversification program.

Late in 1953 it acquired a steel mill at Milton, Pa., now operating as the company's Milton Steel Products Division, and early this

Cone Helps Boys Battle Heat

FIFTY YEARS AGO this year, Americans first began to beat the heat with ice cream cones. Two Marionites who enjoy cooling off with cones are George Carpenter, 8, (left) and Earl Williams, 10. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of the Ideal Hotel, and Earl, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of 781 W. Center St., took to ice cream to enjoy a respite from Marion's sultry temperatures which reached a sticky 92 yesterday. Cones were originated a half century ago at the St. Louis World's Fair when Ernest A. Hamwi, a Syrian pastry maker, mixed wafers with ice cream to help out a nearby ice cream stand which had run out of dishes. The cone-making industry has grown until today 14,000 concerns make them and 4 billion cones are sold each year.

Moscow Honors Chou, Dong

Soviets Spread Welcome Mat for Asiatic Puppets

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin chiefs uncorked their choicest Vodka last night to honor Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Vietminh Deputy Premier Pham Van Dong, triumphally touring homeward from the Geneva conference.

Toasts by the dozen to peace and coexistence were hoisted at a gala reception given by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for about 1,000 persons, including Western diplomats and newsmen.

Play Up to British

The get-friendly theme was pitched mainly at British Ambassador Sir William Hayter, who sat at the head table with the guests of honor and top Russian officials.

In a jovial moment toward the end of the party, Soviet Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev raised his glass to the British diplomat. "You British don't want to capture Leningrad," Krushchev said, 'and we don't want to take Glasgow."

"Leningrad is a very nice town, prettier than Glasgow," Hayter smilingly replied.

U. S. Embassy officials passed up their invitation to the big Spridanovka House reception. It arrived just a few hours before the party started. The Americans wouldn't have gone anyway, because the United States does not recognize Chou's Peiping regime.

Malenkov Present

Premier Georgi Malenkov topped the guest list of government leaders, Moscow bigwigs, foreign diplomats and Western correspondents. The Premier was amiable and all smiles but he offered no toasts.

As the vodka compliments mounted toward half a hundred around the head table, Khrushchev and Internal Trade Minister Anastase I. Mikoyan grew especially animated and high spirited.

Even after all the guests rose to leave, Khrushchev kept tipping his glass with the British ambassador in an exchange heard by newsmen nearby.

"Now we don't want any war, and we are not afraid of each other," the party chief said.

Linking his arm with Chou's, he added:

"Now here's a good example of friendship—the Soviet Union and

Administration Tax Proposals At Final Hurdle

Cornerstone of Ike's Program Due To Get Senate Action Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's huge tax revision bill, which he terms the cornerstone of his 1954 domestic program, today may clear its final congressional hurdle.

The Senate planned to take up the 1,000-page measure, a complete overhaul of the nation's tax laws, sometime during the afternoon barring a last-minute program change.

See Enough Votes

Senate Republican leaders predicted confidently they had the votes to send the compromise bill to the President's desk, in the face of a last-chance battle by some Democrats to knock out of the bill a controversial tax cut on dividends to stockholders.

Their chances of success appeared small since Sen. George (D-Ga), top Democratic member of the Senate Finance Committee, was ready to go along with the compromise bill. He said the good things in it outweighed the bad.

The House passed the bill, a compromise of separate Senate and House versions, by a 316-77 vote yesterday. Democrats there lost 227-169 in an attempt to knock out the dividend tax relief.

'Green Light'

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), whose Ways and Means Committee originally wrote the bill, told his colleagues its enactment would signal "a green light" for expansion of the national economy.

Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have used the same argument, contending various provisions of the bill will lead

Steelworkers Studying 5-Cent Offer by ALCOA

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers, negotiating for a new contract to cover 15,500 Aluminum Co. of America employes, studied today a company offer to increase wages five cents an hour.

The offer was submitted to union negotiators yesterday. The company and union have been meeting at the bargaining table since July 8. The current contract expires at midnight Saturday.

Sen. McCarthy Offers Position, Cohn Declines

Like Going Out Front Door and in Back, He's Quoted as Saying

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) says Roy Cohn, a principal in the bitter Army-McCarthy controversy, has declined an offer to serve as his personal consultant.

McCarthy spoke last night at a testimonial dinner for the 27-year-old Cohn, who recently resigned as chief counsel of the Senate Permanent subcommittee on Investigations, which is headed by McCarthy.

"I asked Roy if he would serve on my personal office staff as my personal representative on the committee," McCarthy said. "Roy turned it down. He said it would be like going out the front door and coming in the back door."

Cohn, the senator added, "left me against my advice, but perhaps he was right in doing it. I could see why Roy felt his usefulness was not what it should be."

Capehart Hails Final Passage Of Housing Bill

Sees Home-Building Increased Up to 20 Per Cent by New Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—New housing legislation, one of Congress' major actions on President Eisenhower's legislative program this session, should boost home building by 10 to 20 per cent, Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today.

Capehart, Senate Banking Committee chairman, steered the compromise measure to Senate passage last night by a 59-21 rollcall vote, thus sending the bill to the White House.

Commends House Action

The Indiana senator said in an interview today the bill "contains a great deal of what the President asked." He commended the House for having agreed to a 35,000-unit public housing program, described by Senate public housing advocates as "a sham and a delusion."

That compromise provision, authorizing far less than Eisenhower recommended, was the main reason for the 21 "no" votes cast in the Senate on the over-all bill.

The compromise wording allowing 35,000 public housing units in the next year would restrict this type of building to families actually displaced by federal slum clearance activities. Eisenhower had asked for 140,000 units over the next four years, without this restriction, and the Senate originally went along on that. But the House refused to authorize any new public housing when it passed its original bill.

GM Net Profit Up 36 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP)—The huge General Motors Corp. had net profits of $425,250,383 in the first half of this year for a 36 per cent gain over the corresponding months of last year.

The increased earnings came on sales of $5,066,028,518, down 7 per cent from the $5,440,545,856 in the first six months of 1953. But GM's total tax bill of $457,948,000 was only a little over half the $764,446,000 a year ago when the 30 per cent excess profits tax still was in effect.

The first half net income was equivalent to $4.79 a common share and compared with $312,845,787 or $3.51 a share in the first half of last year, both per share figures being after $6,464,000 in preferred dividends.

Congress Cool To Rhee's Call For China War

Fiery Korean Leader Hailed for Courage But Not for Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Syngman Rhee neared the end of his White House talks today after winning personal acclaim but a cool reception for his plea to Congress for war against Red China now.

After laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the South Korean President was to have his fourth and perhaps last session with President Eisenhower since arriving in Washington Monday.

So far neither American nor Korean sources have given out word on how the conferences are progressing. Rhee is said to seek more military and economic help for his war-ravaged country and U.S. backing of his ambition to unify it by driving the Communists out of North Korea. Eisenhower reportedly wants Rhee to go easy on his unite-Korea-by-force plans and to adopt a more friendly policy toward neighboring Japan. A joint statement is expected at the end of the talks.

Senate Hears Substitute for Censure Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) proposed today that a committee of six senators be named to investigate and report on "the alleged good or evil of so-called McCarthyism."

Smith offered a formal resolution to the Senate.

This puts it in position to be considered as a possible substitute for a motion of censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) being pressed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) and due for consideration tomorrow.

Smith read his resolution to the Senate and served notice that he will offer it as a substitute when Flanders' resolution comes up.

Smith proposed that the committee consist of three Republicans, to be appointed by the Senate Republican policy committee, and three Democrats, to be appointed by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee. The group would be instructed to report to the Senate by Feb. 1 of next year.

Republican leader Knowland (Calif) told reporters that the Senate definitely will consider the Flanders resolution tomorrow.

Knowland refused to disclose his tactics although he had said earlier he would move to table the Flanders motion. Such a motion would cut off debate, if passed.

Holdup on Bills To Curb Reds Laid to Politics

McCarran Charges Brownell Tampers With U.S. Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) said today Atty. Gen. Brownell has injected politics into national security and that this accounts in part for a lack of action on the administration's antisubversive bills.

Most if not all of the other major parts of the administration program, leaders of both parties agreed, seem likely to pass in some form.

'Too Loose'

McCarran also said some of the antisubversive measures submitted to Congress by the Justice Department "have been so loosely drawn that they rattle." He is a former chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and its Red-hunting Internal Security subcommittee.

President Eisenhower yesterday urged passage of the anti-Communist measures before Congress adjourns, listing them along with farm, tax revision, social security, foreign aid and housing measures as major parts of his program.

The President told his news conference he would be more than bitterly disappointed if Congress adjourned without passing them. Later in the day, a housing bill lacking some of the things he asked for cleared Congress.

Most Expected To Pass

Sens. Knowland (R-Calif) and Ferguson (R-Mich) today predicted passage within the next few days of most of the other bills Eisenhower listed. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said this program is "moving along fast." Ferguson, head of the GOP Policy Committee, predicted its completion and adjournment of Congress by Aug. 7.

The President said also that an increase in the 275-billion-dollar debt limit is a necessity. The House passed a 15-billion-dollar hike last year but the Senate balked, and Sen. Byrd (D-Va) and others still oppose any increase.

Ferguson said he is confident that a measure bearing "a reasonable fascimile" to the President's flexible farm price support program will pass in the final days of the session.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The Serbian Orthodox Church leader of Montenegro was convicted today of anti-Yugoslav activities and sentenced to 11 years, 6 months in prison.

Wide Area Collapses

Niagara Falls Has New Look After Point Breaks

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—The face of the American Falls, its thundering beauty imprinted on the memories of millions of honeymooners, wore a new look today.

The change in the American portion of the great cataract took place yesterday with the collapse into the Niagara River gorge of an estimated 185,000 tons of rock. Carried from the top of the 170-foot chasm was most of the well-known observation area—Prospect Point—and a huge pie-shaped chunk of the American Falls itself.

Fall Largest Since 1931

It was the largest break-off at the falls since Jan. 17, 1931, when a huge section of the American Falls tumbled onto the mist-shrouded rocks below.

Countless visitors witnessed yesterday's thundering fall, but no one was injured.

Engineers for the Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission estimated the size of the rockfall as 400 feet long from the lip of the gorge, 50 feet wide, and 150 feet deep. An estimated 200 feet of the falls crestline crashed to a point 70 feet down the face.

Throughout the day park officials had cast uneasy eyes on some widening fissures that snaked back onto Prospect Point from the river's edge about 40 feet above the brink of the falls.

The area was fenced off by workmen as engineers mapped plans to find out what was causing the break.

Break Takes 10 Minutes

The entire drop took nearly 10 minutes. The crevices widened apidly in the asphalt pavement and the lawn of the observation area.

Then the wire and iron fence appeared to settle before breaking up in huge pieces and crashed to the floor of the gorge.

The riverbed sections followed.

One section of the point which had a mature tree growing on it was left standing, but engineers said it would have to be blasted away if it didn't fall of its own weight.

The change resulted in improved appearance of the falls. Visitors now will be able to get a head-on view of the American Falls because of the deep "V" carved in its flank. Prior to yesterday, the only "head-on" view of the American Falls was from the Canadian side, thousands of feet away across the gorge.

Weigh Evidence

Arrest of Dr. Sheppard Considered by Officials

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County law officers today planned a meeting to decide their next step in the case of the brutal slaying of a Bay Village socialite.

Since July 4, when 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard was found dead in her blood-soaked bed, police have been unable to come up with enough evidence to charge anyone with the crime. But today, the chief law enforcement officials of Cleveland and the swank suburb have a meeting scheduled with County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan.

Up To Prosecutor

"We're going to decide whether present findings justify an arrest," Cleveland Police Chief Frank W. Story said yesterday. He said it was his personal opinion they don't. However, final decision on the filing of charges rests with the prosecutor.

The victim's husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, prominent 30-year-old osteopath, has been undergoing most of the police questioning — much of it bearing on his relationship with a pretty laboratory technician who used to work with him in Bay View Hospital.

The girl, Miss Susan Hayes, 24, who came here voluntarily from California to testify, yesterday was quoted by officials as saying she and the doctor carried on a romance earlier this year, and for some time past.

Story said a session on "what was done, what was not done and what can be done," in the case was held in central police station.

"We consolidated our thinking," Story said, but no new information was brought out.

Late Entry Into Case

Cleveland police didn't take part in the original investigation because the slaying was not in the city proper. They entered the case recently on invitation from the suburb's city council.

So far, officers have failed to find the weapon with which Mrs. Sheppard was hacked to death in her beautiful lakefront home. Her husband testified at an inquest last week that he was awakened by her screams after a nap on a downstairs couch and ran into her room. There, he said, he grappled with her assailant and chased him outside. He has been wearing a brace on his neck to protect injuries he said he received in the fight.

Time Running Out

Outlook Dim for Action On Anti-Red Legislation

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the time left before Congress quits for the year — the target date is Aug 7 — it seems certain very little if any, anti-Communist legislation can get through

President Eisenhower says he will be more than bitterly disappointed if his administration s domestic anti-Communist proposals don t pass Some of his lieutenants inside and outside Congress express hope they will

But Congress has not passed a single one of the major requests made by the President or Atty Gen Brownell for new laws to curb the Communists

The House has passed six pieces of anti-Communist legislation the Senate only one. The latter is not the same as any of the six passed by the House Not one bill has been approved by both

ALMOST ALL the anti-Communist legislation has been handled by two committees of Congress The House and Senate Judiciary Committees To see the handicaps ahead look at the usual procedure before a bill can become law

Taking the House as a starter, first the committee's subcommittee must approve then the full committee Then the full House must give its okay

On the Senate side the committee's subcommittee must approve then the full committee, then the full Senate

But — the full committee in House or Senate may never get around to acting on what its subcommittee blessed And even if the full committee also approves and sends a bill up for a floor vote the measure may never get called up for consideration

But even when House and Senate finally approve similar bills there can't be any new law if there are differences between those bills The two houses must then iron out the differences and approve the compromise

THIS IS WHERE the anti-Communist legislation stands

The only bill passed by the Senate — it was in 1953 — was one to give a witness immunity from federal prosecution in return for testimony he could otherwise refuse to give under the constitutional guarantee against forced self-incrimination (This is still in the hands of the House Judiciary Committee)

Here are the six bills passed by the House with their present situation in the Senate

1 The death penalty for peacetime spying (the Senate Judiciary Committee approved it with changes and it now awaits full Senate action)

2 A heavier penalty for harboring fugitives such as the four Communist leaders who jumped bond after their conviction several years ago (Still not approved by the Senate committee)

3 Compulsory registration of spies and saboteurs (Approved by the Senate committee and awaiting full Senate action)

4 Taking away the citizenship of anyone convicted of advocating overthrow of the government by force (The Senate committee has not acted)

5 Permitting the government to use wiretap information in court trials (The Senate subcommittee has approved with changes, but there has been no action by the full committee)

6 Requiring Communist and Communist-front organizations to list all their printing equipment with the government (No Senate committee action)

IN ADDITION here is proposed legislation wrecked or boxed-up

Brownell asked for suffer laws against perjury (The Senate committee killed this)

Brownell asked a law giving an employer in a defense plant the right to fire suspected subversives when the President declares an emergency

He also proposed that any organization including a business or labor union which is Communist-infiltrated must register with the government and dissolve

The Senate committee approved both proposals but the House committee just about murdered both by suggesting as a substitute idea that an 8-man commission be appointed to study both problems and report back to Congress next year

The one administration proposal which got the most attention — wire-tapping — probably has no chance at all.

Costa Rican Issues Warning

Critic Says U.S. Losing Latin-American Support

By ROBERT S. BALL

SAN JOSE, Cota Rica (NANA) —The sharpest criticism of American foreign policy to come out of Central America since the overthrow of the Red-tinted Guatemala regime comes from the president of this diminutive and slightly apprehensive country.

President Jose Figueres — also diminutive and slightly apprehensive — holds no brief for ex-president Jacobo Arbenz of Guatemala, nor for the plainly labeled Communists who were given key positions in the Arbenz government.

But he is deeply concerned about the international operation which was employed to overthrow the government.

Figueres is possessed of more than a strong suspicion that Col. Carlos Castillo Armas was powerfully assisted in his successful attack by the governments of Nicaragua, Dominican Republic, Honduras and the United States.

And he wonders if this most recent "invasion" may not have set a pattern — and may even have provided encouragement — for future coalitions against a government which may be determined to be unpopular by neighboring countries.

FIGUERES HIMSELF is regarded with extreme hostility by presidents Anastasio Somoza, of Nicaragua; Rafael Trujillo, of the Dominican Republic, and Marcos Perez Jimenez, of Venezuela, whom he regards as dictators and who regard him as a left-wing plotter.

In this situation, which has developed into a war of nerves and a miniature arms race, Figueres sees a developing potential for a repetition of the invasion of Guatemala, with Somoza sparking the attack.

Or, as one Figueres supporter put it in perfect English: "If the Latin American brand of McCarthyism gets out of hand, this cold war can turn into a hot one overnight."

Although Figueres is a Socialist—and one in a hurry at that—his administration is demonstrably anti-Communist.

FIGUERES SPEAKS eloquently in behalf of hemispheric solidarity, and lectures on the subject before North American audiences when the opportunity presents itself.

"But the United States and Latin America are growing farther apart," he told this reporter.

"Since World War II the United States has been too preoccupied with Asia, which is lost, and with Western Europe, which is lacking the heart and the muscle to stand up to Communist imperialism.

"The United States is losing its goal of 'One World' and if it is not careful, it will lose its objective of 'One Hemisphere.' Then the U. S. will be all alone north of the Rio Grande."

Figueres said one reason the United States is failing in its foreign policy is because it fails to be responsive to public opinion abroad.

"The United States lost China because it was not responsive to public opinion. It backed Chiang, who did not have the backing of his own people. The same thing has happened in Indochina.

"President Truman acted correctly and courageously, in my opinion, when he intervened in Korea, but only two newspapers in all North America even reported the poll taken by "Bohemia" (widely circulated and influential weekly magazine in Latin America which showed the people to the South were overwhelmingly opposed to the action," Figueres said.

HE COMPLAINED, TOO, that Costa Rica's action in boycotting the Caracas conference was widely misinterpreted as being a pro-Communist gesture when "actually it was to express our feeling about the lack of political freedom in Venezuela."

"It is time the United States stopped encouraging dictatorships in Latin America while fighting them abroad," Figueres said.

"It confuses our people. The United States tells us about the terrors of Communist oppression, and the loss of freedom under communism, but that exists in some Latin American countries under the dictatorships.

"The people of Latin America are awakening to the facts of democracy, and are beginning to be able to tell a dictator when they see one.

"What the people want now is good government, freedom of speech and press, education and a good living. Help bring these things to all Latin America, and perhaps the goal of 'one Hemisphere' at least can be saved."

COSTA RICA SETS a pretty good example in this regard. The eight-column headlines in the opposition press indicate a high degree of freedom of expression. Elementary education has been compulsory and free for 60 years, and illiteracy is below 10 per cent. High school education has been free for three years, and English is a required subject.

Figueres' local critics complain that he is trying to pack a 10-year social program (along New Deal lines) into a four-year period, and recent income tax boosts might tend to confirm this.

But unless the external pressure on Figueres is turned off, he may not have even four years in which to complete his program.

Robert Fulton, famed for his development of steamboats, is also credited with a number of inventions, including a submarine, machines for spinning flax, making ropes and for sawing and polishing marble.

Traffic Cases

Three drivers were each fined $15 and costs on various traffic charges in Marion Municipal Court Wednesday.

They were: Cedric P. Spooner, 43, of near Powell, speeding, Frank E. Miller, 59, of near Galion, changing lanes without due caution; and Harry B. Kahng, 58, of Detroit, speeding.

District Traffic Cases

Three motorists were arrested and fined in Morrow and Delaware Counties in the past 24 hours, state highway patrolmen from the Marion post reported today. Ben Williams, 26, of Mansfield was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead for speeding and John E. Davis, 42, of Cleveland was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Murphy for crossing a yellow line.

Eugene W. Leiben, 49, of Belleville, Ill. was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Ted Anderson of Ashley for speeding.

Second Child at Galion Undergoing Polio Tests

GALIO David Reid, 5, was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reid of Galion to be admitted this week to Children's Hospital, Columbus, for observation for suspected polio.

Tommy Reid, 8, was admitted to the Columbus hospital Monday afternoon. Symptoms of the two boys were similar. Mrs. Reid remained in Columbus to await results of the tests and for a definite diagnosis.

50 Take Part In Tour, Study Of Farm Ponds

About 50 persons attended the farm pond tour held Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Marion County Soil Conservation District the Agricultural Extension Service, and the Soil Conservation Service.

Toured were ponds on the farms of John E. Ruth, Carl E. Rider, C. W Taylor, Perry Seiter and George Alber.

The visitors also went to the Marion County Children's Home to see how the Conservation Service makes plans in selecting a site for a farm pond.

After viewing the outside of the Home, the group was given a tour through the inside by Eugene White, superintendent.

Cold lemonade was served by the Conservation District members to help relieve the thirst of the visitors.

An aftermath of the tour was revealed today when a boy visiting on the farm of Carl Rider caught an 11½ inch black bass The pond was stocked only last year

Catching the fish was Don Schager of Toledo, a cousin of the Riders. W. L. Williams, conservationist in the county, said the size of the fish was very large He said the normal fish would only grow to be about seven or eight inches long in one year.

Newest Air Force Jet Trainer Does Everything but Take Off

CHAUMONT AIR BASE, France —(UP)—They've got just the thing here for every youngster who yearns to fly a jet at supersonic speed—and still remain within earshot of Mom's call to dinner.

It retails for $50,000. But don't worry, Dad. You couldn't buy it for Junior if you wanted to.

This answer to a small fry's dream is the Air Force Link C-11-A, an electronically controlled instrument trainer that has everything but the power to fly.

"You really feel like you're flying," said 2nd Lt. Edgar C. Farrell, of Burlingame, Calif., who pilots an F-86 Sabrejet for the 494th fighter bomber squadron. Farrell is enrolled in the base instrument school, a must for pilots in this NATO-assigned wing. It has the only such trainer in France.

"You climb into the cockpit and the electric canopy hums shut," he visualized. "Your instrument panel has all the working controls of a real jet and you tune her up the same way. You hear the whine of the engine. It rises to a roar as you gun it, just like the McCoy.

"Through your earphones you hear the operator give you the okay to take off. As you make the proper moves on your panel, your record changes in speed, elevation, direction, wind drift — all the dozen and one factors that help you fly.

"You can't see out. Your canopy is a hazy, greyish yellow because you're flying through dense clouds. The voice of your operator comes over the radio. A storm is on the way.

"Soon the canopy grows darker. Then it becomes jet black, and flashes of lightning are the only light except the glowing yellow of your instrument dials. Rough air starts your gauges hopping like your stick to keep the plane on course. Thunder and rain static crackle through your earphones.

"All of a sudden, brother, its the real thing. You're alone at 30,000 feet, flying blind at 600 miles an hour with nothing between you and earth but a tiny radio voice."

The Link instructor, A-1c Howward C. May of West Springfield, Mass., agrees with Farrell about the eerie illusion of flight.

"I've been working with Link trainers for over two years, but this new electronic job beats them all for realism," he remarked. "More than once I've peaked through the viewing slot back of the pilot's head and watched him unconsciously lean when he's banking the Link by instruments."

But the four-ton "metal monster," as the pilots call it, never moves an inch. And outwardly, any resemblance between it and an airplane would have to come from junior's fertile mind.

DIES OF BURNS

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A 26-year-old man died in a hospital today of burns suffered Monday in an explosion at the Gulf Oil Co.

John Baker, the victim, was one of three persons injured when three 15,000-gallon tanks blew up at the company's wholesale bulk station.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged forward today in a hesitant manner into the early afternoon.

Most major divisions were higher on balance, but all were flecked with minus signs. Gains and losses seldom got outside of a 1-point range.

Trading interest was not very intense at any time and the pace was around 2,500,000 shares. That compares with 2,740,000 shares traded yesterday when the market was slightly higher on balance.

Higher prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Mack Trucks, Goodrich, Grumman, American Telephone, Western Union, Mathieson Chemical, International Paper, Libby, McNeill & Libby, Hamilton Watch, Bulova Watch, Union Pacific, and Standard Oil (NJ).

Lower were National Malleable, Boeing, Schenley Industries, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Philip Morris, Southern Pacific, and Texas Co.

Fall Pickup Looked For

Defense Effort To Help Steel Industry

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel executives today sound optimistic — although their business is unusually slow even for July.

Steel shares are bid up on the stock exchange — although steel earnings are down from a year ago generally, and new orders aren't crowding steel mill books.

Why? Steel spokesmen cite these reasons for their confidence that fall will see a pick-up:

1. Business couldn't get much worse than it is now. Buying in June to beat the steel price boost borrowed from July business, never before have so many steel-using factories closed in July for vacations and never have the closings been so long. Business must go up, they argue.

2. A general business pick-up seems in the cards for fall, and steel will share it. Inventories—including those of steel users—are down, and when steel users start buying again (perhaps all at once) they'll be paying higher prices for their metal.

3. Many believe the nation's defense spending is due for an increase after the November elections. This would pep up the metal-working industries and business in general.

Guns popping in the China Sea strengthen their belief. Some now argue that the Indochina truce may turn out to be increasing Far East tension rather than allaying it. Unfriendly forces face each other from Japan to Singapore and trigger fingers sometimes get nervous.

The President's decision to hike the Swiss watch tariff is even used in this argument. The decision stressed this nation's need, in uneasy times, to strengthen the domestic watch industry because precision instruments are essential for war.

Steelmen note an increasing amount of worrying in this country about our allies' attitudes, and increasing talk of the need to be prepared to go it alone militarily, if necessary.

All of this leads some to believe that defense orders will be stepped up after the elections.

The Iron Age, the metalworking industry's weekly, says editorially today, in listing its reasons for a boost: "If we are going to be tough and draw a line in Asia and Europe we will have to have more for defense than we are now spending."

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of U. S. Steel, doesn't touch on the defense spending prospects, but he does list some other reasons why he expects steel business to turn the corner late next month:

The auto industry will start buying steel again when it goes into production this fall on the new models. The program for building grain storage bins will mean more buying of galvanized sheets. Even the demand for steel from the railroads may pick up soon, he hopes. The construction industry, steel's business customer at present, seems assured of continued high activity for months ahead.

The current picture isn't that rosy. Steel production this week is using only two-thirds of industry capacity. Steelmen stress, however, that 15 per cent of their capacity should be considered as standby for national security, and was built with possible war needs in mind.

Steel earnings reports aren't overly cheerful — although better than any persons had expected.

Of 23 companies reporting so far, only two of the larger ones—Inland and Armco—show net profits higher than a year ago. Some of the small, speciality steel plants show income way off. Larger, diversified companies, however, are still reporting fairly large earnings.

Ohio Northern To Offer Night Classes Here

Ohio Northern University will offer a wide variety of courses in Marion this fall and winter, all for full college credits.

The courses will lead to degrees in education and engineering David H. Markle, director of Ohio Northern's evening division reported. Most will be for three hours' credit and some of the mathematics courses will be five hours.

The three-hour classes will meet one night a week, beginning Sept. 27. Five-hour classes will meet two nights. Classes will be held in Eber Baker Junior High.

Courses will be offered according to demand, Markle said. A minimum of 15 students will be required to register in any one course before it can be offered.

Registration will take place the week preceding beginning of classes, the exact dates have not yet been determind.

Fees will be the same charged on the ONU campus.

Democrats Name Secrest Successor

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Max Lewis Underwood, 32-year-old New Lexington attorney, last night was named to replace Rep. Robert T. Secrest on the November ballot as Democratic candidate for Congress from Ohio's 15th district.

Democratic leaders in the district unanimously chose Underwood. Secrest withdrew after his appointment to the Federal Trade Commission.

Underwood, in his first attempt to win public office, faces Republican candidate John E. Henderson, Cambridge attorney.

Underwood is the son of Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood of Columbus.

CHARGE BIAS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A hearing on an affidavit of bias and prejudice against Common Pleas Judge Warren Earhart of Lawrence County has been continued until tomorrow. The charge was filed by J. Earl Pratt, Ironton attorney, on behalf of his brother, Arno. Pratt claims the judge would be biased hearing a divorce action brought against Arno Pratt by his wife, Nellie. Pratt said the judge was a member of an attorney's firm of which one member now represents Mrs. Pratt in the divorce suit. The hearing started yesterday before Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

STATE PAYROLL UP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 135 employes a month are being added to state pay rolls, State Auditor James A. Rhodes announced yesterday. He said the total was 46,429 last June 30, an increase of 5,350 since Jan. 31, 1953. The welfare department ranked first with 13,692 employes, followed by the highway department, 10,160. As of last June, Rhodes said there were 39,677 full time employes, 6,226 part time workers and 526 on leave

Tribe Protects Margin, Wins 15th From Bosox 2-1

Wynn Gives Up 11 Safeties, Hangs On for 14th Verdict

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland clings to a two-and-a-half-game lead in the American League today on the strength of one big run, a margin responsible for many of the Indians' successes this season.

It came last night as the Indians capitalized on five hits and toppled Boston, 2-1, though the Red Sox managed to register 11 hits against the Tribe.

The victory was Cleveland's 21st this season by one run, and only eight games have been lost by the same edge.

Last season, the Indians won 23 games by one run and were defeated by the same amount in 16 games.

The Indians' latest triumph was their second in a row and 15th of the season against the Red Sox, who have won one and tied twice.

The second spot New York Yankees kept pace in the pennant race by overpowering Chicago, 7-5, on a ninth-inning three-run homer by Mickey Mantle.

Cleveland pitcher Early Wynn posted his 14th victory, sharing the league high mark with Chicago's Virgil Trucks. With two months to go this season, Wynn is only three victories short of his 1953 mark.

Burly Early has yielded 25 hits in the last 18 innings he has pitched, but only three runs have been scored against him and he has issued only three walks during that period. Two of the three walks were intentional.

The Tribe's two-run tally came in the sixth inning, when Al Rosen smacked a long double to center field and scored Bob Avila, who had singled; then Rosen entered the winning run himself on a single by Vic Wertz.

Rookie Russ Kemmerer was the loser, suffering his second defeat against a single victory. He pitched a one-hitter against Baltimore 11 days ago for his major league debut.

Boston's hitting went to waste in all but the fifth inning, when the Red Sox produced their one run on singles by Billy Consolo, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams.

Except in the Indians' important sixth inning, they were without hits but for singles by Sam Dente and Wertz in the second, which went to waste.

In today's series finale Bob Feller seeks his eighth straight victory and ninth of the season. Pitching for Boston will be Leo Kiely, the only Red Sox hurler to win a game in the squad's last eight contests.

Columbus' Batters Smack Six Homers

By The Associated Press

The Charleston Senators, American Association cellar dwellers, certainly can't blame St. Paul for their plight.

The Senators clipped the Saints for the eighth and ninth successive times, 7-5 and 5-4, last night.

Toledo slowed Indianapolis' runaway to the pennant, 3-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Bert Thiel.

The Columbus Red Birds outslugged Minneapolis, 11-6, in a wild 30-hit game. The Birds got 17 of the safeties, including five home runs and six doubles.

Rain postponed Louisville's engagement at Kansas City.

Yesterday's STARS

Batting — Mickey Mantle, New York Yankees, hit a three - run homer in the ninth inning to give the Yankees a 7-5 victory over Chicago.

Pitching — Johnny Antonelli, New York Giants, won his 15th game and his fifth shutout, beating St. Louis 10-0.

Hitters Fail, Cincy Takes 3-2 Lacing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It looks as if the Cincinnati Redlegs are in a rut when it comes to invading the East.

On their first trip they fell flat at the start and lost three straight. On their second trip it was exactly the same story.

And a 3-2 beating they took from the Philadelphia Phils last night made it two defeats in a row at the start of this third trip along the Eastern Seaboard. Whether the string will go to three again will be known tonight when they complete the series against the Phils with Corky Valentine due to pitch for Cincinnati against Murry Dickson.

Extra base hits wrecked the Rhinelanders last night and to add insult to injury the winning pitcher was Herman Wehmeier, the Cincinnati native who was traded away some weeks ago. Wehmeier didn't do a lot of pitching.

He came on in the eighth to relieve Curt Simmons and gave up the hit which allowed Cincinnati to tie the score at 2-2. But he still was the pitcher when the Phils scored their winning run in the last half of that frame and then set Cincinnati down in order in the ninth.

Extra base hits figured in each of the Phils three runs. The winning tally in the last of the eighth stemmed from Earl Torgeson's triple as first up. The blow came off reliefer Frank Smith and Torgeson scored easily as Smoky Burgess forced Wally Post back to the wall to take his long liner.

The Phils built up a 2-0 lead off starter Art Fowler in the first six innings. Willie Jones' home run gave them their first tally in the third. In the sixth a double by Burgess and Granny Hamner's single accounted for another run.

The Redlegs, meanwhile, were wasting scoring opportunities for want of a clutch base hit. They stranded a total of five base runners in the fourth and fifth innings alone. They lost a chance in the third when Roy McMillan was cut down at the plate as he tried to score from first on Andy Seminick's double off the scoreboard.

Then when they finally got a run in the seventh it was accomplished without a hit. Walks to Seminick and pinch hitter Lloyd Merriman, a sacrifice and an infield out tallied the first Cincinnati run.

Simmons was chased in the eighth after Ted Kluszewski opened with a double and Wally Post walked. Jim Greengrass had popped out between those two plays and when Wehmeier came in he fanned McMillan but yielded a single to Bob Borkowski which tied the score.

Willie Mays 11 Contests In Front of Ruth's Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fans everywhere and National League pitchers too are beginning to take Willie Mays' threat to Babe Ruth's home run record more seriously.

With 55 games remaining on the New York Giants' schedule, Mays today stands 11 games ahead of the Bambino's 1927 pace.

Willie connected for his 36th home run yesterday in his team's 99th game. When Ruth hit 60 he did not produce No. 36 until his 110th game.

Upper Sandusky Signs New Freshman Mentor

UPPER SANDUSKY — Don Drebus 25-year-old native of Ashland, has been signed as freshman coach at Upper Sandusky High School. He also will instruct social science and physical education.

A 1947 graduate of Ashland High School, Drebus also was a standout performer with Ashland Colleges football, basketball and track squads. He was a teammate of Coach Leo Strang while at college.

Erie, Eaton, McMillen Squads Notch Industrial Softball Wins

Erie No 2, Eaton and McMillen registered wins last night at Garfield Park in Industrial League No 2 action.

Erie blasted Baker Wood 11-4. Eaton toppled C & O 10-4 and McMillen trimmed General Telephone 4-2.

Baker Wood got the hits, 12 of them, but Erie won the tilt on four. The winners scored four times in the second, twice in the third, once in the fourth and twice in each of the sixth and seventh frames for the win. Baker Wood tallied once in the fourth and three times in the sixth. Cottrill was the hurler for the Railroadmen while Waits was on the rubber for Baker Wood. Hammon and Morlett each had two hits for the winners.

Eaton built up an early lead which it never relinquished in besting C & O. Gorham went the distance for the winners spinning a 10-hitter. The winners netted nine hits off the offerings of Medley of the Railroaders. Eaton clinched the tilt with three-run outbursts in each of the first two frames and then added a run in the third, run in the fourth and two more in the sixth. A run in the first, one in the third and two in the fifth provided C & O's run production. Jaggers clouted a pair of homers. Chambers had a double and triple and Gorham added two hits for the winning Eaton nine.

Crabtree set down General Telephone on two hits as McMillen triumphed. The winners found Drake of the losers for nine hits scoring single runs in the second, fourth, fifth and sixth frames to account for the win. Telephone's runs came in the sixth. Kirk, Thomas, Osborn, Hilborn, Dillinger and Jones contributed hits to the McMillen attack.

District Action Opens Monday At Galion Park

A total of 24 teams from six counties will take part in the sixth district softball tournament which is opening Monday night at Galion by a Marion team.

In drawings held at Galion last night, Crawford and Richland Counties led the counties in number of entries with six each. Marion will have five teams in the tourney while Ashland has three and Wyandot and Knox two apiece. Morrow County is not represented.

Pairings have placed Erie No. 1 against Sons of Herman of Mansfield in the opening game Monday at 6:30 p.m. Carl's Auto Parts will meet Junior Order of Bucyrus at 9 p.m.

Mac's Trading Post will see action Tuesday when it goes against Faultless Rubber of Ashland at 7:45 p.m. while Smitty's All-Stars will battle the Marion Merchants Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

The tournament becomes double-elimination when the semi-finals are reached at the East Side Park in Galion.

Women Golfers In Second Set At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (AP) — Defending champion Claire Doran was the only Women's Western Golf finalist to draw a par-busting opponent today as the three other favorites lined up against players who were 5, 6 and 7 over par in the second round.

Miss Doran will face scrappy Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., who equaled the Cleveland school teacher's 1 - under performance yesterday.

Medalist Pat Lesser of Seattle, Wash., and Mickey Wright of La Jolla, Calif., also came through the second round 1 under. Miss Lesser takes on Barbara McIntire, the Toledo, Ohio, district champ who was 5 over, and Miss Wright will play Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt., who was 6 over.

In the other quarterfinal, Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, runnerup last year, tees off against blonde Beverly Gammon of St. Paul. Miss Nelson, after grabbing a 3-up lead in four holes yesterday against Mrs. Marjorie Lindsey McMillen of Decatur, Ill., rode out a 2-and-1 victory one over par.

Miss Doran had little trouble in eliminating Mrs. Dorothy Balch, a former Indiana champion, 7 and 5.

Mrs. Jones had the toughest road to the quarterfinals, a 1-up see saw against Mary Ann Downes of Baltimore. In other second-round matches, Miss Wall defeated Carol Dunger of Tiffin, Ohio, 4 and 3, and Miss McIntire downed Mrs. Nancy Stump of Wheeling, W. Va., 3 and 2.

Fights Last Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (Madison Square Garden) — George Johnson, 154, Trenton, N. J., outpointed Bobby Jones, 157, Oakland, Calif., 10.

ROME, Italy — Tiberio Mitri, 161, Italy, stopped Gordon Hazell, 159, England, 5.

Sweep Needed

Road Swing Through East To Settle Future of Braves

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are building up steam for a fast sweep along the Eastern Seaboard which should determine whether there is any substance to the ghost of a chance they still hold in the National League pennant race.

A highly regarded entry during spring training, the Braves floundered through the first half of the season. But they've started to roll in the last two weeks and last night they ran their current winning streak to six games with a 6-4 victory at Pittsburgh.

A getaway game with the Pirates today will be followed by four games in Brooklyn starting tomorrow night, three in Philadelphia and three with the New York Giants.

It would take a virtual sweep to make the Braves a serious threat. Teams have done it before, although not recently.

Milwaukee trails the second place Dodgers by 8 games and the Giants by 10. In the past week the Braves have cut their deficit by 5½ lengths.

Neither the Braves nor the Dodgers gained any ground yesterday because the Giants broke their six game losing streak at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals 10-0. Philadelphia vaulted into fourth place with a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati. Brooklyn defeated Chicago 3-1.

The Cleveland Indians kept rolling over the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, for the 15th time in 16 decisions. New York beat Chicago 7-5 on Mickey Mantle's three-run homer in the ninth. Joe Coleman pitched a three-hitter as Baltimore trimmed Washington 2-1 and Detroit trounced Philadelphia 10-2.

Ducats on Sale Here to Sports Auto Program

Tickets for the second annual Fourbourne Ave. Fence Bird National Sports Car Races Sunday, Aug. 8 are on sale in Marion.

Capt. Bernard Wahl and Lt. Harold McGrath, Fourbourne officers in charge of ticket sales in this area, have announced that advance tickets are on sale at sporting goods stores, automobile agencies and banks here.

Nearly 200 sport cars of all types are expected for the races which will run from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Ten races will be run on the 2½-mile runway course according to Capt. Wahl and Lt. McGrath.

In addition there will be static displays of all types of aircraft including the B-47 six - engine stratojet and KC-97 stratotanker. Antique cars will also be on display and many celebrities will be there.

According to the two men exhibits at the base will be of interest to all ages. The event was a big success last year with some 100 000 persons visiting the grounds.

Chapel services and refreshments will be available and there will be unlimited parking space. Traffic will be directed by highway patrolmen to relieve congestion, Capt. Wahl and Lt. McGrath said. Gates will open at 6 a.m.

Race Program Slated At Richwood Speedway

J. L. Jones attempts to prolong his feature race win streak tonight at the Richwood Speedway. The Richwood driver will be shooting for his fourth straight victory in the 25-lap race.

A large field of cars and drivers is expected for the stretch stock car program. Three heat races, a winners' handicap and two consolation events are scheduled along with the feature run. The first race will be started at 8:30.

Cockell, Matthews Clash In Bid for Shot at Title

SEATTLE (AP)—While their charges ran through light workouts, rival managers for tomorrow night's Harry Matthews-Don Cockell 10-round heavyweight go also got in final licks today—but in unaccustomed roles

From normally reserved John Simpson of London came the brash for him, "Cockell will win—and by a knockout."

And from Deacon Jack Hurley the man of unlimited vocabulary came the almost meek "Harry will win"

While Simpson who has watched his British Empire champion take decisions over the Seattle kid here and in London wouldn t pick the round he said he was confident Cockell would flatten the lighter Matthews,

Hurley who also was present for the painful (to him) earlier fights, wouldn't say whether it would be by a knockout or a decision But he has said previously he would be satisfied with a decision

Both managers are hoping the fight will pay the way to a meeting with Rocky Marciano

Cockell is expected to enter the ring at 207, while Matthews will weigh in at 180 Both fighters planned only light workouts today

Two Top Teams Capture Wins In Pony Loop

G & G Homes first round Pony League champs and Alloy its rival for first place honors turned in Pony League victories last night at Lincoln Park

G & G Homes trimmed VFW 11-1 while Alloy blanked Clark Metal 9-0

Joe Ambrose was author of the shutout over Clark Metal with a four-hitter He struck out 10 while walking five

The loser was Bob Klingel who was touched for 11 hits over the seven-inning route The winners reached him for two runs in the first one in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the seventh Klingel struck out seven while walking three and hitting a batter

Ambrose knocked out four base hits to pace the winners attack while Larry Jay and Dale Walters both contributed two hits apiece Everett Rice Bill Robbins and Jim Harris added a hit apiece Klingel, Dick White, Ted Lindsay and Elmon LeMaster got the Clark Metal safeties

Bob Lister allowed only one hit in hurling G & G Homes to its win over VFW. The only hit came in the first frame when the losers netted their lone run.

Lister struck out 10 over the five-inning route while walking two Loser was Steve Flesher whom the winners reached for 10 hits while scoring once in the first, once in the second five times in the fourth and four times in the fifth Flesher fanned five while walking two and hitting a batter

Bob Smiley and Ted Anderson both had two hits for the winners while Bob Claypool Jim Anspaugh, Bob Middleton Lister Tom White and Don Conkle contributed a hit apiece Flesher collected VFW s lone hit

In Pony League action Friday night G & G Homes will meet VFW in the opener and Alloy will tangle with Clark Metal in the nightcap

New State Hospital Idle for Lack of Staff

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A million-dollar investment stands idle here as the state searches for doctors and psychiatrists to staff Ohio s spanking new receiving hospital for the mentally ill

Dr Thomas A McMahon superintendent of the hospital dedicated June 27, said the institution is ready to receive patients but efforts to employ skilled medical personnel have failed

State welfare officials cite low salaries offered by the state as a main obstacle to completing a staff

Jim Bagby Sr., Indian Mound Star, Succumbs

MARIETTA, Ga (AP) — Jim (Sarge) Bagby who helped pitch the Cleveland Indians to the 1920 world championship of baseball died yesterday

Bagby whose full name was James Charles Jacob Bagby Sr won 31 games and lost 12 for the Indians in 1920 and in the World Series against Brooklyn became the first pitcher ever to hit a series home run

The 64 year old mound star had been in bad health since he suffered a stroke in 1942 He died at Kennestone Hospital in Marietta, where he had lived for the past several years

Survivors include a son Jim Jr., who followed his famous father as a major league pitcher in the 1930s He now is employed at the Lockheed Aircraft plant here

Bagby was hammered hard in the World Series but came out with a 1 1 record against the losing Dodgers He lost the second game of the series 3 0 but won the fifth 8-1 The latter was the game in which he banged his unprecedented home run and teammates Elmer Smith walloped a grand-slammer and Bill Wambsganss made an unassisted triple play

American Loop Finale Won by Bankers 13-10

Little League American action came to a close last night at Robert Scott Field with Marion County Bank outscoring National City Bank 13-10

Nine runs in the fifth frame on only two hits accounted for the County Bank win and enabled James Moody to post the win on a seven-hitter

Moody struck out seven while walking four James Hindman was the National City starter and was relieved by Ted Jolliff The pair of hurlers were touched for five hits while fanning 14 walking 11 and hitting four batsmen

The losers pulled up with four runs in the first on a hit pair of fielder's choices and two walks, added another run in the third on two hits and scored twice on two hits in the fifth for a 7-4 bulge before County Banks fateful fifth The National City Bankers came back with three runs in the sixth but still fell short The winners had scored once in each of the first four frames prior to the big fifth

Don Kern clouted a homer for the losers in the sixth while Pete Portetas collected a pair of hits Ronald Keckler Jolliff Hindman and Terry Cudd had the other City Bank hits

Keith McFann and David Rizer both had a pair of hits for the winners while David Schuler added the other

Regularly - scheduled Little League action here will close Friday night with a National League tilt

Tonight at Robert Scott Field at 5 45 p m Shelby and St. Marys will clash in the area finals of the district 3 Little League baseball tournament.

Champion Ends Vacation, Set To Tackle Ezz

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano is in town today for a physical exam and a conference that probably will result in a Sept 16 Yankee Stadium rematch with ex-champ Ezzard Charles

The heavyweight champion has been vacationing at Cape Cod and Grossinger N Y since he won a unanimous decision over Charles in a rousing 15-round bout at the Stadium June 17 Charles fought a courageous battle but was well battered at the final bell

In the hours after that battle with Charles Dr Vincent Nardiello operated on Marciano s eye removing old scar tissue from a fight of years ago He had been cut again early in the Charles bout and bled freely throughout the contest

Rocky still wears a slight scar over the eye as the result of that operation but believes he will be ready to start boxing in a week or 10 days

I d like to fight again this year ' he said yesterday The long layoff (nine months) was too much I need more fights

Al Weill Rocky s manager has been holding out on a definite signing with the excuse that he wanted to be sure that the eye had healed perfectly

Studies of the abundance of rabbits indicate that they reach peak numbers at intervals of about 8 years

Funeral Slated For Wyandot Accident Victim

UPPER SANDUSKY — Funeral services for Jack Bianchi, 30, of Kirby, who died Wednesday morning of injuries suffered in a one-car auto mishap near Sycamore on Route 67, will be held Friday at 9 a.m. at St. Marys Catholic Church, Kirby, Rev. J. I. Hartman will officiate. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Bringman and Co. Funeral Home of Upper Sandusky has charge of funeral arrangements.

Bianchi died Wednesday morning at University Hospital, Columbus, where he had been transferred from Wyandot Memorial Hospital. Cause of death was listed as a skull fracture and other injuries

A veteran of World War II he was employed at the Chief Dairy in Upper Sandusky. He was a resident of Kirby for the past six years He belonged to the Upper Sandusky Veterans of Foreign Wars and attended St. Marys Catholic Church in Kirby

Born Jan 24 1924, he was the son of Rento and Louise Arnold Bianchi, who survive. He was married to Hazel Agers on April 19, 1944

Surviving in addition to his widow and parents are nine children, Dorothy, Jack, Janis, Irene, Robert, David, Mary Sue, James and Aleta, all at home, and three sisters, Marguerita, Thressa and Marie, all of Kirby.

Taxes

to much faster plant expansion and modernization and thus to more jobs. These provisions include scores of new or bigger deductions for depreciation of new plants and equipment

They say also the bill contains many overdue reforms to help groups of individuals hard hit by special circumstances.

Democrats generally counter that the bill is deficient in that it contains no general relief for all taxpayers and especially no income tax cut for the little man They tried to write in such a cut on the floor in both branches, but lost by close margins.

Loss Seen Greater

Some Democrats also contend the eventual tax loss through the bill will be much more than the $1 363,000,000 estimated for the first year.

The dividend tax cut in the compromise version would exempt from taxation entirely the first $50 of a dividend income. Then, the stockholder could subtract from his tax 4 per cent of any dividend income above the $50.

Democrats argue this would mean large reductions for many wealthy individuals.

Groups or individuals who would benefit most from other provisions of the bill include families with heavy medical expenses, retired persons, parents of college-age children who work, mothers who must work to help support their children and farmers with large soil conservation expenses.

"I'm the secretary of the Soviet Communist party," Khrushchev continued, "but in this question of coexistence Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain is in complete agreement with me Lenin laid down this principle—and very rightly"

Chou and Dong had stopped over in East Berlin and Warsaw on their way from Geneva They hit Moscow as Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, hailed their settlement on Indochina as a great victory for the Soviet Union and the "peace camp" and a smashing diplomatic defeat for the United States.

Farm Mother Shoots Two of Her Daughters

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A 36-year-old farm mother shot two of her four daughters to death with a 22-caliber rifle early today, and then wounded herself critically with the same weapon

Two other daughters slept nearby, and the husband was in an adjoining bathroom when the tragedy occurred, Coroner John K Williams said as he returned a verdict of homicide.

The dead:

Barbara Alene Watson 13, who was killed while asleep in bed

Rita Mae Watson, who was 9 today. She died enroute to a Wilmington hospital.

Critically injured, with a bullet wound in her chest, was Mrs. Thelma Bentley Watson, 36, of Rt. 2, Wilmington

Coroner Williams said another daughter, Mary Catherine, 11½, who was sleeping with Rita Mae, told him she awoke about 6 a m when she heard her mother walking about the bedroom She said her mother smiled at her, and she went back to sleep

A few minutes later, she said she heard Rita scream She said she saw her mother with the rifle, standing beside the bed, and also saw her fall to the floor The child said she did not hear a shot.

The husband, Roy said he was in the bathroom and that he did not hear any shots but that he heard a thud and thought one of the children had fallen from the bed.

A fourth daughter, six-month-old Jennie slept in a crib nearby

The husband and neighbors could offer no reason for the shooting, the coroner said.

Rhee

The White House did not make known Eisenhower's views yesterday on the South Korean's fighting talk before a joint session of Congress, although the speech conflicted with Eisenhower's previously stated views against the concept of a preventive war.

Urges Militant Course

Addressing senators and congressmen in a soft, emotion-packed voice the 79-year-old Asian patriot urged that American warships blockade China that U S Air Force bombers hit its productive centers and that an Asian anti-Communist army of two million South Koreans and Chinese Nationalists — equipped by the United States — strike out and destroy the Red regime. He also declared that the one-year-old Korean armistice should be scrapped

"Unless we win China back," he declared "an ultimate victory for the free world is unthinkable"

There was generous applause, with every member on his feet, at Rhee s entrance and departure And six times applause interrupted his speech

But there was silence when he declared "the American Air Force as well as the Navy would be needed to insure the success of the counter-attack on the Red Chinese regime" He said that "no American foot soldier' would be needed

Afterwards, congressional feeling seemed warm for Rhee as a venerable patriot and representative of a brave people But most legislators appeared cool or at least noncommittal on his war proposal

Clash Over Inventory

PUCO Hears Testimony In Ohio Bell Rate Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The assistant chief engineer of the state utilities commission today testified that no complete inventory of equipment of facilities of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co ever has been made by the commission

Paul E Reed, testifying in the Ohio Bell rate increase application case said the commission had never ordered him to make a complete investigation of the company s facilities Reed was cross-examined by Akron Law Director R O Gantz. Akron and several other Ohio cities are protesting Ohio Bell's application for an $8,913,000 annual rate increase

Reed's testimony followed that by E. L Tennyson, Youngstown utility commissioner Tennyson said Ohio consumers pay more proportionately for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co consolidated income tax than 11 other of the AT&T's largest subsidiaries

Cross-examined by Ashley Van Duzer, chief counsel for Ohio Bell, Tennyson said Ohio consumers are paying more than their share of AT&T income tax because of the parent company s fiscal policies He said this is true despite the fact Ohio Bell produced more net income than the 11 other major AT&T affiliates

Van Duzer said yesterday Ohio Bell gross expenses per telephone, including taxes were $77 08 He said the average for the other 11 companies was $90 16

Cities fighting the rate increase contend rates should be figured on a net investment base instead of using the value of the company property

One witness Ivon W Ulrey Columbus public utilities director, told the commission yesterday that business is being called on "to take action to prevent a depression"

He said Ohio Bell's rates should not be so low that they would scare off investors nor so high that they would affect adversely purchasing power of subscribers

"There is clear evidence" he claimed, "that Ohio Bell is not suffering from the short-run downtrend in business"

World War II Vets Have Three Years To Obtain Home Loans

WASHINGTON (UP) — World War II veterans who plan to obtain home loans under the GI Bill have only three more years in which to Act

R G Hughes president of the National Association of Home Builders, pointed out that the cut-off date for GI Bill loan applications is July 26 1957

More than three million veterans to date have used the provisions of the bill to buy homes

Hughes observed that the repayment record for veterans' loans has been remarkably high. The Veterans Administration has had to pay claims on only about one-half of one per cent of loans made to ex-GIs. Actual losses have been less than one-tenth of one per cent

"This is indeed a magnificent record and a high tribute to the character and sense of community responsibility of ex-servicemen," Hughes said

The home loan program makes it possible for the VA to guarantee lending institutions against loss of up to 60 per cent of a loan with a maximum guarantee of $7 500 loan guarantees under the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act,

Korean veterans may get home the so-called Korean GI Bill, passed in July 16 1952 It provides for guarantees on loans for 10 years after the present national emergency is over To receive benefits under this statute active service must have been performed after June 27, 1950

To obtain a GI home loan, the veteran must choose the home he wishes to buy then present his original discharge or service separation papers to the builder bank, loan association or other lender VA-appointed appraisers put a value on the property and a certificate of reasonable value is sent to the lender. If approved, the loan is made

A widow whose veteran-husband has died as a result of World War II or Korean service, may, if she has not remarried, apply for a loan guarantee Her husband must have served in the armed forces sometime between Sept 16 1940 and July 25, 1947, or after June 27, 1950 and his death must have been the result of service on duty or from service-connected causes following discharge under conditions other than dishonorable

Under provisions of the 1950 Housing Act, a veteran may, under certain circumstances, have the amount of guarantee entitlement used by him restored by the VA

'I HAVE ONLY DONE MY DUTY.' The Angel of Dien Bien Phu, Mlle Genevieve de Galard-Terraube (right) chats with Ohio s Rep. Frances P Bolton after the shy French nurse received a heroine s welcome at Washington D C She protested that the enthusiastic welcome was 'completely undeserved . . . I have only done my duty."

Top Sergeant Wins Acquittal In Abuse Case

FT DIX, N J (AP) — A wiry one-eyed non-commissioned officer with six years of Army service behind him yesterday was cleared of charges that he kept 225 recruits at bone-taut attention for an hour in 92-degree heat

Sgt 1 C Richard J. Witbeck 24 of Wellington Ohio breathed a sigh of relief as a three man special court-martial board of three of his superior officers acquitted him after deliberating 40 minutes

'I feel very good ' Witbeck said outside the pine-paneled hearing room 'I'm glad it s all over

The verdict thus wiped clean the slates of the two principals brought up on charges as a result of the June 21 punishment formation during which men were said to have passed out in the broiling sun been revived with pails of water and forced back into line

First Lt Robert S Morgan 28 of Wilkes Barre Pa Witbeck s immediate superior and commander of Company L, ' 272 Infantry Regiment which stood the formation, was cleared of dereliction of duty' charges last Friday

Witbeck who wears a patch over his left eye lost in a training mishap while on occupation duty in Austria, pleaded innocent to allegations of maltreatment of personnel He did not take the stand in his own defense and did not exercise his right to have other enlisted men sit on the court

His counsel Capt Norman Tupper of Winter Park Fla , contended that Witbeck merely acted on orders of his superiors

Tupper made light of the trainees ordeal of standing at attention, saying I ve done it many times . . I ve seen men passing out all around me

Pvt William Brooks 20, of Hempstead, N Y testified he fainted twice while on the formation He said the first time he was revived by water in the face and the second time by smelling salts administered by Witbeck

Asked if he thought he was maltreated by Witbeck, Brooks replied, "No, sir"

Reds Reject U.S. Protest

Peiping Radio Says China Appeals to U.N.

TOKYO Friday (AP)—Peiping radio said today Communist China had rejected a U S protest over the shooting down of a British Airliner off Hainan last Friday with a loss of three Americans

At the same time the communist radio disclosed that Red China had protested to the United Nations the shooting down of two Chinese planes by U S carrier fighters off Hainan Island Sunday

In announcing that the U S protest had been rejected, Peiping said that two British notes of protest delivered to the Chinese Foreign Ministry Wednesday had been accepted

In its own protest Peiping detoured diplomatic channels and went direct to the United Nations

Housing

Capehart said the conference committee which framed the final version of the bill was "indeed fortunate' to have won House agreement for even the restricted 35,000-unit public housing feature

In other major respects, Capehart said the new bill liberalizing down payments and extending repayment periods on homes bought with government-insured mortgages followed closely the housing proposals Eisenhower sent Congress early this year

Capehart said the new housing bill is 'certain' to pump even more activity into a building industry already operating at a far higher rate than anticipated a year ago

Under the bill, a house with an FHA-appraised value of $12 000, for instance, could have its down payment lowered from the present $2,400 to $1,200 if new and $1,650 if old Loans could run as long as 30 years instead of the present limits of 20 to 30 years

Several New Gimmicks

The measure includes several new gimmicks designed to eliminate extra-large profits by builders of government-backed apartment projects Some senators, led by Sen Byrd (D-Va) were contemptuous of these anti-'windfall' devices and forecast their effect would scarcely be noticeable "Windfalls" were described as profits made by builders who built projects for less than the amount of a government-insured loan and pocketed the difference

The measure also contains a new provision requiring lenders in the government-backed home repair loan program to take part of the risk on each loan made This is designed to encourage more policing of home repair loans by commercial lenders in a move to help stamp out those home repair dealers who government officials say, have bilked home owners of millions of dollars in shoddy repair work

The present Turkish republic was started in 1953.

Shovel

year acquired a greater than 92 per cent interest in the Newport Corp of Newport Ky , through an exchange of shares In late 1953 Merritt-Chapman & Scott also acquired the Fitz Simone & Connell Dredge and Rock Co mid-western construction organization based at Chicago

E T Bowles president of The Ohin Co said today Merritt-Chapman s offer was so generous 'we could not refuse it He said his company did not get into the Shovel with the intention of selling but the firm could not turn down the offer when it was made.

Hold 85 000 Shares

He said his company and its customers hold approximately 85 000 shares of Shovel common He said he presumes the customers feel the same way about the offer as the firm does, and will agree to the stock exchange.

He said his company suggested the 80 per cent goal He termed an 80 per cent reorganization a tax-free reorganization while capital gains on a short term reorganization would be fully taxable

An article on Louis F Wolfson president of the Merritt-Chapman & Scott appeared in the Saturday Evening Post last week His story is one of a rise from a small Florida junkyard into control of over $200 million empire in a matter of some 15 years.

Formula for Success

His formula for making his business deals consists of purchasing stock in a corporation which he believes can make more money than it does when the purchase thin it does So far this has paid off in almost every venture into which he has entered.

He was injured in a football game while attending the University of Georgia The injury turned out to be permanent and resulted in his scrapping dreams of becoming a professional player

Instead he went into the junkyard business with his father With a $10,000 loan, he formed a pipe and supply company which later sold for $2 500 000, the article says From then on he went into other ventures and eventually bought into the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Co which was torn by internal strife when he took it over

He raised the income of the company from $778 000 in 1949, to $3 494 698 last year, and also cured the internal troubles which had been keeping the company from realizing its potentialities

In addition to owning controlling interest in the globe-circling Merritt-Scott construction and marine salvage firm, Wolfson controls the New York Shipbuilding Corp , the nation's third largest shipyard and the 23 million-dollar street and bus car system which serves Washington, D C

"His cash income," says the Post article 'runs between $500,000 and $1 000,000 a year, and for the privilege of making such money, he and his family have paid into the Federal treasury nearly $10 000 000 in income taxes Such success naturally has attracted considerable attention some of it suspicious, and at one time or another Mr. Wolfson has been investigated by a Federal grand jury a Congressional committee and Sen Kefauver s crime probers None of them has found him guilty of anything more nefarious than being smarter and more imaginative, money-wise, than most of the people he has done business with '

Dior Sets Fall Fashions Back To Age of Jazz

PARIS (AP)—Christian Dior today dropped the waist line to the hips, flattened the bust and sent women s fashions back to the Jazz Age of the 1920s

Dior, pace-setter in women s fashions set off an entirely new style when he showed off his fall and winter creations

He called it the H-line"

If it catches on as most Dior styles have done in the past he will be tossing aside the winning winsome womanly curves of recent times

Hips are permitted but not much of them What there s however, is certainly emphasized in a style highly reminiscent of the boyish bob the speakeasy the raccoon coat and the Charleston

With his new style Dior put the emphasis on a long straight and narrow torso

Coats and jackets will fall from sloping shoulders to a point just below the hips—at the haunch Waist lines — as we think of them —are not marked at all

The straight cut pullover type bodice that is close fitting clinging and fitting at the hips is featured in all daytime wear

Full skirted cocktail and evening dresses all stick to the same principle the long torso with the fullness beginning at the hips or below

With this new design a 22-inch waist isn t going to be much help unless your other measurements are just as diminutive—no bust no shoulders no hips What a gal will need is a straight, narrow, long torso

Cohn

McCarthy who had no prepared address did not elaborate

At one point McCarthy referred to Cohn as a 'victim, then quickly said

"But you can't call Roy a victim He ll never be a victim of anything because he has too much good old Americanism and guts for that McCarthy also said Cohn will "always be available and will be called upon very often for help and advice'

2 000 Attend Dinner

Both McCarthy and Cohn received ovations from some 2 000 $7-a-plate dinner guests in the Hotel Astor ballroom Sponsors of the affair said more than 6 000 ticket applications had to be turned down because of lack of space

Cohn, responding to many addresses of praise said he considered himself 'extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to oppose the Communist menace '

'In public life or private life as long as I am here, I will always be in this fight,' he said, adding

'The elimination of one or two or five or ten individuals will not stop this fight, but it will go on as long as there is an America And it will continue as long as you continue your interest in public affairs and dedication to God and country"

Police took special security measures as the result of reported threats against some of those attending the dinner

Outside the hotel about 250 persons demonstrated against the dinner carrying signs and chanting

"Roy is out — Joe must go

Police stationed around the hotel did not interfere with the picketing which lasted 45 minutes

Prisoners Helping Jersey Taxpayers

TRENTON, N J (UP) — Inmates of the New Jersey prison system pay for their crimes by saving taxpayers money.

Murderers, embezzlers, forgers, safe-crackers muggers, bookies and alimony delinquents team up in a $2,500 000 annual business expected to gross even more in 1954

One-third of the prisoners are employed in 3 "state-use' industries operated by and for use of the state Another third work at tasks connected with institutional maintenance The final one - third are considered unemployable for health, age or psychological reasons

Co-operation is the keynote of the program Workers in the textile shop of the state prison farm at Rahway weave mattress ticking by machine The material is shipped to the mattress shop at state prison here where inmates cut bolts of cloth into proper lengths and sew them into mattress shape

From the prison, the finished mattresses go to the state's Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman. Various products are distributed in this manner to 23 institutions housing 25,000 wards of the state

The state penal system also includes a cannery at the prison farm at Leesburg, a pig farm at the Annandale Reformatory and a shop at state prison where license plates and tags are turned out

American Way

By George Sokolsky

When we think of radical movements in this country, the big cities, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and such places come to mind. It has seldom been that way. The Populist movement, perhaps the most successful of radical efforts, came out of the Midwest, centering in Kansas; the "Appeal to Reason," the most potent of radical newspapers, was published in Girard, Kan. the IWW, perhaps better remembered as the Wobblies, an anarcho - syndicalist movement, witnessed its greatest growth in the lumber camps of Oregon and Washington; Eugene V. Debs was born in Terre Haute, Ind., and Earl Browder in Wichita, Kan.

SOKOLSKY

So now we turn to Silver City, Grant County, N. M. where the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Works cuts a wide swath. This is a Communist union, expelled from the CIO for being just that. In this mining center, the unskilled workers are completely dominated by this union.

IT WAS in the environs of Silver City that the motion picture, "Salt of the Earth," was filmed, produced and directed by some who were affiliated with the Hollywood Ten. They could not work in Hollywood; so they established themselves in Silver City which annoyed the local Chamber of Commerce no end.

It so happens that more than 96 per cent of the unskilled labor in the Silver City mining industry are of Mexican descent. The Communists in the union and among the motion picture folks devoted themselves unceasingly to the jolly business of stirring up racial discontent. A quiet town suddenly found itself embgiled in much unpleasantness.

This year, the Chamber of Commerce, whose manager, Harold Welsh, used to be the editor of the "Silver City Enterprise," advocated that the Fourth of July would be an excellent time for a citywide reaffirmation of the belief in democracy.

A committee was appointed which included interesting personalities, such as Greg Mesa, local president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, and Morris Rudick, local theater manager who refused to let the "Salt of the Earth" producers use his theater.

THE EVENT united the town. Among the speakers were Roy Brewer, the Hollywood labor leader and President of the Motion Picture Alliance; Archbishop Edwin V. Byrne of Sante Fe; and Pedro Gonzales - Gonzales, representing the Screen Actors Guild. Forty-three organizations joined in the parade, which had eight marshals, seven of whom were of Mexican nationality.

Roy Brewer, who is now running for the presidency of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage employes, said:

"Hollywood and Silver City have something in common today because we have both been victimized by the American Communist party. While this experience has been an unpleasant one, I am sure that both of these communities will be better able to face the problems of the future by reason of the experiences through which we have passed. There is nothing that the world today needs so much in this gigantic struggle for the very survival of our civilization as we need to understand the real nature of the Communist menace with which we are faced and those of us who have faced it in a realistic fashion, such as our two communities have, are going to have an advantage over the others in the struggles to come.

It is clearly evident that there are many good people who do not realize that American Communism can be as deadly as Asiatic or European Communism."

ANN DORAN, of the Screen Actor's Guild, made a little speech on this sound note:

"This kind of gathering refutes the Communist line better than anything else. Their feeling is to divide, to make you look at your neighbor with suspicion and hate, but when we gather, just nice, normal average people, that work, that live, that have fried eggs for breakfast; when we gather like this, we are no longer — although we may be very proud of our ancestry — we are no longer Irish or Jewish, or French or Mexican. We're just plain old Apple Pie Americans."

So a good time was had by all at what seems to me to be the best kind of Fourth of July celebration. I give this account rather belatedly in the hope that next year, other communities might try to make the Fourth fit the local scene as perfectly as this one did.

Shenanigans

By Victor Riesel

BERLIN

There is in Germany an informed group of men who wonder why our country has never investigated a band of Americans in the old Allied Military Government who helped put Russia in a position where she can be as tough as she is today.

RIESEL

You might say it's nobody's business whom we do or do not investigate. This informed group of Germans would agree with you. It's none of their business now. So they keep silent, although I know they believe that some of the old Allied Military Government crowd made certain that the Soviets got the electrical equipment and the huge steel mills which enabled the Russians to build an atomic industry.

In Duesseldorf the other day, I was told of a recent speech there of one Dr. Herman Oberth. He's the German scientist who developed the Third Reich's V-2 killer rocket. Dr. Oberth said that by next March both sides in this not so cold conflict would be able to launch atomic rockets on 45 minutes notice in any part of the earth —to accurately bombard any other part of the globe!

Back in the burning forties Dr. Oberth experimented successfully at the German's super secret rocket base at Peenemunde. He's on our side now but the Russians got many of his scientific colleagues. So Moscow got the know-how. What they needed was the precision machinery, the electrical equipment and the steel with which to build rocket and atomic bomb plants.

ALL THIS the Soviets got, courtesy of some of our Allied Military Government people, U.S. citizens all. This band took advantage of the turbulence which harassed Gen. Clay, their chief, who was attempting to run a conquered nation along humanitarian lines. He trusted them.

This crowd actually tried to arrest, or discredit, or drive out of office, four men who today are making a powerful democratic ally out of Germany. One of these men is Chancellor Adenauer, whom the AMG crowd refused to permit to publish a newspaper while issuing such a permit to another man who edited a big Frankfort daily.

Years later the man who did get the permit was discovered to be a Soviet agent and was dismissed as a dangerous Communist.

Then there is the case of the great Ludwig Erhard, a liberal and a champion of free enterprise. He was then, and is now, German minister of economics.

He reformed the currency, took the nation out of bankruptcy, and then asked the Allied Military Government for permission to take the conquered state out of the planned economy which the AMG boys were running in Germany. They turned him down and tried to wipe him out of power.

Finally, one day in July 1948, he went in to argue with Gen. Clay himself. Clay had been taking the advice of some of his lower echelon aides. Clay and Erhard talked for four hours. Clay came out and said this man was right — who had been stopping him? Let's get on with free enterprise.

THEY DID. Germany today is democratic — so much so that, much as it loathes the Communists, it permits them to run a legal party even in Berlin I saw one of the Red headquarters up on Tegeler Weg in West Berlin.

Erhard's victory marked the end of the AMG boys. And today there are new gargantuan plants such as Hans Reuter's DEMAG which turns out entire steel mills for the free world. Up in Reuter's tower, as we stood looking out on the forest of new sky-high smokestacks, he told me of the Russians' seizure of the Thyssen rolling mill of Duisburg-Hamborn, the world's most modern rolling mill, dismantled and shipped to Russia.

Later at the Berlin plant of the Sieman's corporation, which is a sort of junior General Electric, they told me of the vast amount of electrical equipment taken by the Russians, including every one of their operable machines. Sieman's started from rubble. The machinery seized from them now points atomic rockets at our backs.

WHO WAS military chief of the Decartelization and German Foreign Assets division of the good old U.S.A.? None other than a patronizing arrogant pro-commie liner, who for years has been with pro-Communist unions, such as the Sovieteering United Electrical Workers. Russ Nixon was boss of such dismantling for six months. Anti-Communists broke their hearts fighting to get him out. He went. When he was ready.

There was a fellow who started on the National Labor Relations Board and wound up in 1946 as assistant to the general counsel for the overworked Gen. Clay. The assistant later turned out to be a spy by name of George Shaw Wheeler, who now lives with his wife and four children in Prague. They work for the Russians' anti-American section there, and regularly broadcast reports "proving" that the "People's Democracies," not two miles from where I write, are freer than the U.S.A.

Maybe it is an idea to find out who made all these shenanigans possible in the AMG — and just where those old whiz kids are today!

Scientists' Haven

By Hal Boyle

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP)—Did you know the camel was a pioneer settler of the American West, but left here nearly a million years ago?

HAL BOYLE

That was long before either the Indian or the cowboy arrived. And today nobody can tell for sure why one branch of the camel family migrated to South America and became a llama, while another branch went to Africa and ended up carrying Arabs and posing for cigarettes.

"Why did he leave here?" asks Dr. James D. Bump. "The camel competed successfully here for 30 million years. So did the horse. But they both left the country. Why? Nobody knows."

THESE ARE the kind of problems that bother detectives in old bones such as Dr. Bump. He is director of the Museum of Geology at the South Dakota School of Mines and one of the nation's best known paleontologists.

To Dr. Bump the hills and eroded tablelands of the West are a great history book of America, holding more mystery than any thriller by Ellery Queen.

He spent his boyhood in the famous South Dakota badlands and became fascinated early with the fossil life imprisoned there in silt layers that tell the tale of the past, chapter by chapter. As a child he used to wander about, filling gallon cans with fossil teeth and slowly learning to identify them.

"I can't think of another place where we can find so many types of past life," he said. Among some 200 fossil animal forms dug up there are the saber-toothed tiger, the three-toed horse, and the ancestors of the modern camel, hog and rhinoceros.

SCIENTISTS COME from all parts of the world to sift the rich fossil treasurers of the badlands. One summer there were 8 different scientific groups delving in the area at the same time.

Seeing the evidence of so many forms of life that have vanished tends to make paleontologists pretty philosophical about the fate of mankind. Most of them are reconciled to the possibility man isn't here to stay forever—anymore than the dinosaur was.

Dr. Bump feels pretty sure, for example, that if man doesn't figure a way to bump off the insects they will finally bump him off. "Shellfish ruled the world for the best part of 200 million years," he said. "Then came the age of the fishes.

"The sharks were boss for a long time, and then they started dwindling and they've been dwindling ever since.

"From the fishes came the reptiles. One branch was the dinosaurs—they had the right hormones or something—and lasted for 200 million years.

"Then mammals, some smaller than mice, began evolving, and the age of the mammals has run for 100 million years. But modern man himself is quite recent—only about 50,000 to 80,000 years old. "In every way except brainpower, man is physically inferior to many mammals."

What about those insects? "Well, insects far outnumber any other forms of life on earth," said Dr. Bump, cheerfully, "and pound for pound, insects today probably match the weight of all the mammals in the world."

"The problem is whether man can keep from going downhill long enough to make enough chemicals to curb them. But, of course, we can't say for sure the next age will belong to the insects."

"After all some people call this the age of man—but some call it the age of the atom."

Texas Pecan Crop Little Affected by Drought

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) —Despite a prolonged drought, it appears Texas' 1954 pecan crop will exceed the 10-year average of 30,000,000 pounds.

John E. Hutchinson, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, said the current outlook is for a crop of 47,000,000 pounds.

The drought killed many trees, he said, but those that survived apparently will bear heavily.

TV SAFETY

CHICAGO (INS) — A leading insurance company says there was a decline in home accidents last year, he downswing coincides with an increase in home television sets and prompts W. C. Johnson, vice president of Admiral Corporation, to surmise that folks watching Westerns or revues aren't tumbling down stairs, falling off ladders or slipping in bathtubs. Johnson hastens to add he doesn't imply that TV set owners don't take baths.

Korean Peasants Held After Taking Ride on Helicopter

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chances are these two Formosan farmhands will think twice before again attempting to hitch a ride on a helicopter.

The Chinese Nationalist Air Force said one of its pilots set his 'copter down in a field for emergency repairs.

Two farmhands who had been watching ran to the craft and clung to its framework when he departed.

As the chopper gained altitude the two became terrified and screamed. The pilot, only then aware he had passengers, began a gentle descent.

Panic-stricken, one farmhand let go, dropping a few feet to the ground.

This caused the plane to lose balance and it crashed.

The pilot suffered injuries to both legs.

Neither of the hitch-hikers was injured. Both are being detained.

Non-Com Busted

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UP) — Sergeant Duffy of Manchester's 18th Rifle Co., USMC Reserve, was busted to corporal at the unit's first court martial.

Corporal Duffy was convicted of eating the paper lettering off the Marine Corps float during the Memorial Day parade in Manchester.

The 45-pound English bulldog is the company's mascot.

HOTEL GUESTS

NEW YORK (INS) — The American Hotels Corporation, now celebrating its 30th anniversary, estimates it has accommodated 70 million guests since its formation in 1924. The Corporation manages the operation of 50 hotels from Maine to Florida and from New York to Missouri.

The Roman Colosseum was originally called the Flavian Amphitheater.

Racketeer Given 3 Years in Prison

CLEVELAND (AP) — A hoodlum Cleveland tried to keep out of town, Alex (Shondor) Birns, was convicted late yesterday of tax fraud and sentenced to three years in federal prison.

Birns, 47, had the distinction of being the subject of an order from Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, calling for his arrest every time he was seen within the city limits.

A racket figure who has been under a deportation order since 1946, Birns had a long police record which began with a sentence of two years for auto theft in 1925. His native Hungary has refused to accept him.

A federal jury convicted him on three counts of failing to report all his income in 1948 through 1950, but found him innocent of another count covering the year 1947, originally he was charged with evading taxes on income of $82,250, but this finally was reduced to $36,500.

Supervisors Let Contract for Penny

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Al Davis has himself a contract — for one cent he's going to excavate 50,000 yards of earth to form a sump — a huge hole in the ground where runoff water is collected and returned to the soil.

The Nassau County Board of Supervisors, which had asked bids on the excavation at nearby Levittown, had been ready to go as high as $23,000.

Naturally, the board was delighted by Davis' penny bid but asked "how come?"

Replied Davis:

"Where else can a guy get 50,000 yards of high grade soil, sand and gravel for a penny?"

Although foxes are monogamous in the wild state, males have been mated with several females in captivity.

Girls Learn Outdoor Cooking Tricks

Scouts' Manual Contains Recipes for Many One-Pot Meals

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you and your family have a yen to cook outdoors while you are vacationing, the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A will give you plenty of tips. They practice the whole year through. And come Aug. 2, hundreds of Girl Scouts will acquire even more know-how when at various points they enter the Appalachian Trail — stretching from upper Pennsylvania through Virginia — for a three-day hike and cook outs galore.

THE SCOUT'S MANUAL, "Cooking Outdoors," is full of handy hints. Along with over 50 pages of recipes for one-pot meals, "stick" cooking and other kinds of outdoor dishes, the manual has directions for building fires, kinds of fuel to use, methods of food care and cook-out organization. In addition to solid information, there are intriguing suggestions. This one, for instance, giving a substitute for soda in bread-making, makes any adventurous family want to hit the trail:

"Instead of soda, use an equal amount of the white of wood ashes and mix it dry with flour. It makes bread rise the same as soda, and it isn't possible to tell the difference. The best ashes are those of hickory, dogwood, sugar maple, and cornecbs; but the ashes of beech, ash, buckeye, balsam poplar, and yellow poplar are also good."

Nothing daunts the camping scouts—whether they are braising ham in a beanhole, having a fish bake or an Imu. No utensils are needed for the Imu. According to the scouts, it's a mode of cooking that was used in ancient days by Mediterranean countries; Mesopotamia, Afghanistan, Siberia and Japan. When they follow this early cooking technique, the scouts heat rocks in a pit in the ground, place food (wrapped in dampened grape, hickory or other nut leaves) next to the hot rocks, and cover the pit with earth to seal in the heat.

NO BEATER handy for those flapjacks? Don't give it a second thought. Cut a three-forked branch or twig from a tree and use it as a beater by twirling or rolling it in the flapjack batter between the palms of your hands.

Tin cans come in for how-to-do treatment, too. In preparation for cook-outs, scouts at troop meetings learn to make kettles, stoves, corn poppers, skillets, toasters and broilers out of various sizes of tin cans. Tin shears and a sturdy scout knife help — skill and ingenuity do the rest.

GIRL SCOUTS know how to do things with batter.

Berry picking is half the fun of camping, and of course Girl Scouts sometimes put their berries in muffins. Because non-fat dry milk is easy to pack and carry, and stays fresh, the scouts include it in their pack and use it for drinking and cooking in reliquefied or powdered form. Here is their Blueberry Muffin recipe, calling for powdered nonfat milk. If you want to bake these good muffins indoors as we did, halve the recipe and fill 12 muffin cups (about 2¾ inches measured across the top or ½ cup size) about two-thirds full; bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 25 minutes. And remember that the batter should be slightly lumpy, and not mixed until smooth or you will have peaks and tunnels. The non-fat dry milk gives the muffins a delightful golden-brown crust.

GIRL SCOUT BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

Ingredients: ½ cup shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs (well beaten), 4 cups flour, ¾ cup non-fat dry milk powder, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups water, 2 cups fresh blueberries.

Method: Cream shortening and sugar, add well-beaten eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add them alternately with water to creamed mixture. Add berries, slightly floured. Bake 20 to 25 minutes.

Noted Persons Taken by Death

By The Associated Press

LONDON —Charles Webber, 79, for many years conductor of the Carl Rosa Opera Company. Died Wednesday.

—:—

MARIETTA, Ga. — James (Sarge) Bagby, 64, former pitcher for the Cleveland Indians. Died Wednesday.

Boy, 3, Rolls Up Car Windows, Suffocates

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Frances Reichle put her 3-year-old son into the family automobile when she got ready to clean her house yesterday. The temperature was 90 degrees, so she rolled down the car windows to make the boy, Robert, more comfortable.

An hour later, Mrs. Reichle returned to the car. The windows were closed. Apparently the boy had rolled them up. Robert was unconscious on the seat.

At Maywood Hospital he was pronounced dead of suffocation.

Well-Planned Break-In Nets Burglar Only $2

TOKYO (AP)—A pair of very efficient Japanese burglars must be wondering today if all their planning was worth it.

The two broke into a home in daylight, after carefully cutting telephone wires and making certain only the servant was home. They locked the servant in a closet and ransacked the house.

All they found was 900 yen (a little more than $2.)

Army Begins Tearing Down Freedom Village

SEOUL (AP)—Freedom Village, the first stop for nearly 5,000 United Nations prisoners of war repatriated last year, soon will disappear from the Korean scene.

The 8th Army yesterday ordered dismantling of the huge warehouse building used to process the 4,909 ex-POWs in the 33-day repatriation which started last August at Munsan.

The 84th Engineer Combat Battalion, the same unit which built the historic village, has been given the job of tearing it down.

Cool Weather in Japan Is Blamed on H-Bomb

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese scientist is blaming the H-bomb tests last spring for still another development—chilly summer weather.

Dr. Hidetoshi Arakawa said that because of the lower temperatures a record low rice crop is in prospect this year.

Midday Dinner for the Whole Family

Old Reliable Hamburger, Served in New Way, Is Basis of Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do both Pop and the kids come home at noon Then chances are you have a real dinner at midday, and that hamburger appears often on your menu. So here's a new, pretty and good-to-eat way of serving old reliable and budget-wise ground meat. You combine it with fresh tomatoes and cucumbers for a real harvest-time main dish.

When we tried this recipe, we served the youngsters their share of the sauce "as is." To the oldsters' portion, we added a little curry, and found the savory yellow powder gave it a delicious flavor. If the father in your family likes his fare spiced up a bit try this trick.

THIS DISH calls for thrifty liquefied nonfat dry milk To prepare a quart of the liquefied milk, just shake ¾ cup nonfat dry milk powoder with 4 cups of water, in a tightly covered container; use what is needed for this recipe and store the rest in a covered container in the refrigerator. Another method of reliquefying nonfat dry milk powder, which some cooks prefer, is to pour the required amount of water into a bowl and sprinkle the required amount of powder on top of the water, beat slowly with a rotary (hand or electric) beater until dissolved.

HAMBURGERS can be dressed up—and mighty good.

BEEF AND TOMATO STACKS

Ingredients: Four medium-size tomatoes (cut in half), 1 pound ground lean beef, 3 tablespoons liquefied nonfat dry milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Method: Place tomato halves in shallow baking pan. Mix together ground beef, liquefied nonfat dry milk, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Divide mixture evenly into eight portions; shape each into round pattie and place on tomato halves. Bake in moderate (375F) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until meat is thoroughly cooked. Makes 4 servings. Serve with Cucumber Sauce.

CUCUMBER SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 cup liquefied nonfat dry milk, ½ cup grated cucumber.

Method: Melt butter over low heat, add flour, salt and pepper, stir until blended. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in liquefied nonfat dry milk until smooth; add cucumber; return to heat. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until thickened. Makes about 1¼ cups. Serve hot with Beef and Tomato Stacks.

No City Program

Storm Damage Points Up Need for Tree Trimming

The City of Marion has no program of inspection, care, or trimming of numerous trees in the city located along city streets on city-owned property.

This was disclosed today by Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest. He said while the city is responsible for trees located in the tree lawns between sidwalks and curbs, there has never been any program for their maintenance

HE POINTED out that no funds have ever been set aside for such a program which he indicated would be expensive.

Need for attention to hundreds of trees in the city was pointed up by two storms which struck the city recently. Both left the city streets with tell-tale reminders that many trees have been allowed to become too large for safety with little attention given to trimming.

During one of the storms several parked automobiles were damaged by huge limbs or whole trees blown down on them.

One city official, who wished to remain unnamed, said this shows the need for some program of trimming and caring for the trees. He pointed out that whether the trees are on public or private property, those that have become too large become serious hazards.

Falling limbs often carry telephone and electric wires down with them and this disrupts communications and power and in the case of the electric wires could mean starting of fire or possible electrocution of some unwary person, he said.

He further pointed out that even though a tree may appear to be very much alive, if it has gone untrimmed for a number of years it is a potential storm victim.

FORREST SAID that the only programs of tree trimming carried on in the city are those of the public utility companies—the Ohio Edison Co. and the General Telephone Co.

Both utilities try to keep tree limbs away from telephone and electric wires.

The Ohio Edison Co. reportedly has two crews presently working in the city trimming all trees along city streets which interfere with its power lines.

Trees located where no power or phone lines lie go untrimmed for years on end, unless private property owners have the work done on their own, according to Forrest.

Two Ohioans Sentenced In Huntington Car Case

HUNTINGTON, W. Va (AP) — Charles Wayne Murphy, 20, and Okey Ernest Phillips, 19, both of Springfield, Ohio, were sentenced in Federal Court today to indeterminate terms in the custody of the attorney general.

Both pleaded guilty to driving a stolen automobile interstate.

About 6,500 Americans die by drowning every year.

Osgood Co. Boasts Oldest Name in Power Shovel Industry

Firm Manufactures Many Types of Equipment

This is another in a series on Marion industries which is appearing in The Star from time to time.

By CHARLES L. MARTIN

One of Marion's long-time industries makes the proud claim it has the "oldest name in the power shovel and crane industry."

It is the Osgood Co. With a history dating back some 102 years, the company has been growing with Marion for 40 years since 1914.

Originator of the firm was Jason C. Osgood who designed and built his first "land excavator" in Troy, N. Y. in 1852. Crude in design, compared with today's intricate power shovels, this machine was a "two-horse power" shovel. Both its motive power and the power used to operate the dipper was supplied by two horses walking on a tread mill. Some of the other operations were powered by hand-wheels turned by the shovel operators.

FIRST OPERATED under the name of Jason C. Osgood, the company was successively called Osgood and Sons and Osgood Dredge Co. The company's plant in Troy was destroyed by fire in 1914.

Four years previous to the fire, a group of Marion men, some of whom had been connected with the Marion Steam Shovel Co., organized the Marion Shovel and Dredge Co. They heard of the fire at the Osgood plant and purchased the name, salvaged drawings, patterns and other assets of the company and moved them to Marion.

The name was changed to the Marion-Osgood Co. for a few months when it was again changed to The Osgood Co.

While records of the officers of the Troy company have long since been lost, it is believed Jason Osgood was company president until his son became president a few years before the fire.

THE FIRST PRESIDENT after the move to Marion was John D. Owens who was followed by Clifford A. Owens, M. D. McNeil, and Robert C Owens.

Company president now is John P. Courtright, who is also president of the Marion Power Shovel Co.

He was named president of the Osgood Co. late in June after MPS acquired controlling interests in the Osgood Co. through purchase of former president Robert C. Owens' stock.

This has been the only major change in basic ownership of the company since it was moved to Marion some 40 years ago.

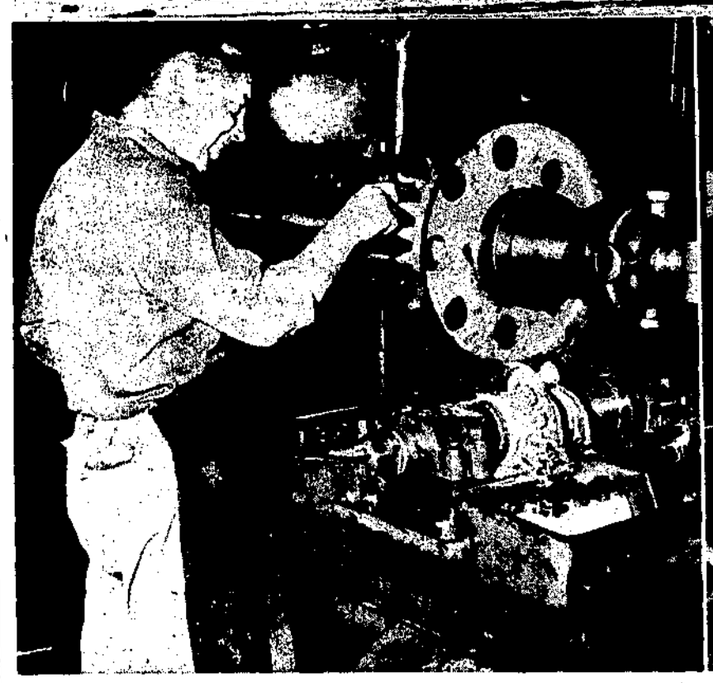
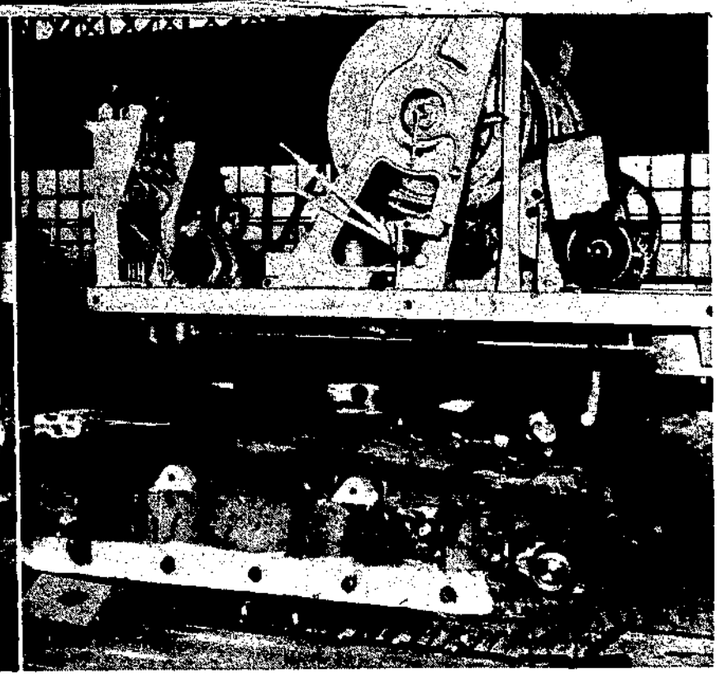
IN 1918, the controlling interests of The Osgood Co. established a steel foundry on an adjacent site under the name Commercial Steel Casting Co. In 1928 the two companies were consolidated in the first of two major reorganizations, with the Commercial Steel Casting Co. becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary.





SOME OF THE MANUFACTURING processes and products of the Osgood-General Co. are shown in these photographs taken at company plants on Cheney Ave.

UPPER: Two of the Osgood Co. mobile cranes are shown here being readied for shipment to a U.S. Naval load, these are the largest rubber-tire mounted cranes shipyard on the east coast. Capable of lifting a 63-ton manufactured by the company.

INSET: Large amounts of metal used in the manufacturing of power shovels, cranes and other similar products must be sawed into proper lengths. Here, metal saw operator Burton Harmon checks a piece of steel being sawed by the semi-automatic machine.

LOWER RIGHT: Skeleton of one of the firm's finished products, a crawler mounted power shovel, is shown on the final assembly line. Reaching up under the machine to tighten a bolt is Guy Pence while Orlee Weaver works on the foot pedal controls. Both are final assemblers.

The second reorganization was completed in January of this year when The General Excavator Co. also became a wholly-owned subsidiary. This reorganization began three years ago when the sales divisions were combined to market and service both companies' products under the name Osgood-General.

General Excavator was incorporated by a group of Marion men in 1926 and began operations with the purchase of the former Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co. plant and property that same year.

All this has meant an almost continuous growth in the size of the Osgood Co. in Marion. Starting with one plant building and an office building, the company now has a total of nine buildings located on Cheney Ave.

The number of employes has also increased. From about 100 in 1914, the number has now gone up to an average of 600 with about 470 of them engaged in manufacturing processes in the shops or foundry.

The foundry division has a monthly production capacity of approximately 750 tons of carbon and alloy steel castings. The Osgood Co. uses about 40 per cent of the production and the balance is sold to outside customers with about 90 per cent of it going to 30 customers.

The 40 per cent used by the Osgood Co. goes into production of a complete line of power shovels, cranes, drag lines, hoes and pile drivers. The company machines and fabricates all major components of its products, other than the gas or diesel engines, electric motors and other electrical equipment.

Its shovels range in size from three-fourths to three cubic yards and the power cranes from 10 to 63 tons lifting capacity. The cranes are manufactured either as conventional crawler mounted, rubber-tired Mobilcranes, or mounted on truck chassis.

THE MOBILCRANES were pioneered by the Osgood Co. more than 10 years ago and were originally designed for use in the logging industry. Company officials claim it was the first successful self-propelled, one-man operated crane mounted on pneumatic-tired wheels.

The company produces five different capacity models of Mobilcranes. They are now used to handle equipment in shipyards, docks, industrial plants, the construction industry and allied fields.

By using a specially designed drop-ball the Mobilcranes have also been adapted for use in the mining industry, to break up large ore-bearing rocks into smaller, more-easily-processed stones.

Distribution of company products is handled through a worldwide sales organization and Osgood and General machines have become known throughout the world in recent years.

The company maintains repair, and service headquarters throughout the nation. One of the largest of these is a complete service and branch plant located on company-owned property at Ridgefield, N.J.

WEST COAST customers are serviced by a complete parts depot in San Francisco. Similar facilities are located in Atlanta, Ga. for serving the southeastern section of the nation.

Company employes are represented by two labor unions. Manufacturing personnel in the Osgood - General Shops are members of Local 1281, International Association of Machinists, AFL. Wilbur Chapman is president of the union and Ronald E Bibler is shop committee chairman.

Production personnel at the Commercial Steel Casting Co. are members of Local 386, International Moulders and Foundry Workers Union of North America, AFL. Roy Nusser is president and Thomas Gallagher is chairman of the shop labor committee.

Benjamin T. Wiant is vice president and assistant secretary of the company. Treasurer is Merle L. Virden, who is also secretary of MPS. E W. Barnhart is vice president, secretary, and assistant treasurer, and John F. Lacey is vice president in charge of foundry operations.

Other company officials include Kenneth O. Williamson, sales manager, Errol W Raab, export sales manager, Lay D. Rhoads, chief engineer.

The United States has 6,840 hospitals.

Coffee Lovers who love a bargain!

BIG SAVING OVER GROUND COFFEE!
This large size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn saves you up to 60¢ over 2 pounds of ground coffee. That, plus this Special Label "20¢ Off" sale, makes a total saving of up to 80¢.
FLAVOR AND SAVINGS SECRET!
Our exclusive "Natural Flavor" process starts with the choicest coffees freshly ground. Then our modern scientific equipment brews them to capture all their rich, full flavor. In this way we actually get many more cups from every pound—more than you can possibly get from any home method of brewing ground coffee.
Result: 100% pure coffee in modern instant form—with only the water removed. You save tremendously over ground coffee.
The coffee that really is real coffee!
Instant Chase & Sanborn 100% REAL COFFEE!

1—ANNOUNCEMENTS

1-A—CARDS OF THANKS

MENDENHALL, MISS MAE—We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness and beautiful floral offerings received from Miss Mae Mendenhall's kind friends and neighbors.
We especially want to thank Dr. Campbell and his nurses, the City Hospital nurses, Rev. Milton Lashey and the Axe Funeral Home.
Joseph Pleasants

MEAD, MABEL ELLIOTT—We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for acts of kindness, words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind friends, neighbors and relatives at the time of the sudden death of our beloved wife and daughter.
Bert Mead
Mayme Elliott.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN LOVING MEMORY of Henry Ebert who passed away eight years ago today July 29, 1946.
If all this world was mine to give,
I'd give it yes and, more,
To see the face of my dear husband
Come smiling through the door.
It's not the tears at death that's shed.
That tells of the heart that's broken.
But the solemn tears in after years
And remembrance fondly spoken.
His memory and pictures are all I have,
His cares are all at rest.
But thankful am I who today can say
I loved him and did my best.
Sadly missed by
His wife, Jennie Ebert, Galion, Ohio.

FREY, J. BURTON—Who departed this life 20 years ago today, July 20, 1934, at age 66.

When Earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colours have faded,
and the youngest critic has died.
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an neon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen shall put us to work anew.
And those that were good shall be happy: they shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair.
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame,
But each for the joy of working, and each, in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it, for the God of Things as They Are!
Daughter, Mrs. George V. Porter.

STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff

FROM YOUR CONVERSATION I GUESSED THAT YOUR BOSS, COPPER CALHOON, WAS THE MYSTERIOUS CLIENT WHO HAD HIRED ME... WHEN EVEN MY HAM EGO COULDN'T STAND WHAT I WAS DOING TO YOU AND CANYON, I PULLED OUT
I CAME HERE AND PRESENTED COPPER CALHOON WITH ALL THE CREDIT CARDS, CAR KEYS, ETC., I HAD BEEN USING, AND TOLD HER I WAS QUITTING...SHE DENIED THE ASSOCIATION — BUT...
...HER CURIOSITY AS TO WHAT HAPPENED BETWEEN YOU AND CANYON CAUSED HER TO ADMIT PLANNING THE DECEPTION...
...SO THIS IS WHERE I GET OFF...EXCEPT THAT I AM ASHAMED OF MYSELF FOR WHAT I HAVE DONE — AND AMAZED AT YOUR COURAGE IN PUTTING UP WITH THE LIFE YOU MUST LEAD...
HAVEN'T YOU ANYTHING TO SAY TO ME?
YES...THANK YOU — AND PLEASE GO AWAY!

Collectors Seeking Old Razor Blades

MADRID (UP) — John FitzGibbon, professor of English at the British Institute here, and his friend, Pablo Serra, are unusual collectors. They collect razor blades —6,662 varieties up to now.

FitzGibbon has thus far collected 5,300 blades from the four corners of the world, including the Iron Curtain countries. Serra's collection is comparatively modest, 1,362 blades.

FitzGibbon explained Spanish supremacy in razor blade collecting this way:

"Collecting blades lends itself to the highly individualistic temperament of Spanish character. It is very personal and painstaking work; not at all like stamp collecting for instance. Anybody with money can buy himself a good stamp collection. It is not the case with razor blades. To me the difference is this — one requires money; the other time and effort."

The professor then said he had accumulated 1,200 different kinds of Spanish blades. He remarked that perhaps Germany and Czechoslovakia manufactured more different kinds of blades than any other country in Europe. FitzGibbon said his collection included 20 Russian-made blades, adding that nationalization of Soviet industry has limited the variety of blades put on the market.

FitzGibbon's favorite items are two Japanese blades which he considers genuine rarities.

"One of the has three cutting edges, the other has four," FitzGibbon said.

Incidentally, both FitzGibbon and Serra use electric razors.

Monkeys Pose Problem For New Delhi Officials

NEW DELHI (UP) — Monkeys — the cost of catching them and the cost of feeding them — is a constant problem for municipal committee here.

The committee has hired a monkey-catcher to rid the city of the pests. He gets a salary of $30 per month. He has to tempt the monkeys into his trap with bananas, peanuts and grain. For the bait, the committee spends seven cents per head.

But that's not all. The trapped monkeys have to be fed until they are deported. This costs another seven cents per day per monkey.

The municipal audit also has to keep a sharp watch on daily expenses to see that the monkeys get the food and not the men who feed them.

The committee is now making permanent arrangements and regularizing the amounts paid for catching and feeding the monkeys.

Pump Station Men Cock 'Weather Eye'

Marion Observation Post Handed Big Role in Statewide Scene

By JOHN ROBSON

"High yesterday 86, low last night 64." These are familiar words when The Marion Star calls the official weather observers at the Marion Water Co. pumping plant.

Since December, 1949, the men at the pumping plant, headed by Charles Whysall, have been keeping track of the daily fluctuations of the thermometer, and the amount of rain that falls in the Marion area each day.

THE OBSERVATION station at the pumping plant is considered by the official weather bureau in Columbus to be one of the key stations in the state. Officials at the Columbus bureau say the weather in Marion parallels the average weather in the rest of Ohio.

The men at the plant do not make weather forecasts. This is done at the weather station in Columbus.

All they do at the local station is check temperatures, record amounts of rainfall, and call Columbus in case of any violent weather, such as a heavy wind, rain, or tornado conditions.

That last function is an essential part in the government weather plan. If it were not done, a tornado or heavy storm could hit a populated area without warning.

MEN AT THE PLAT ask that citizens do not call there to find out weather conditions. They keep their records only as a public service and supply the information daily only to the Weather Bureau, The Star and radio station WMRN.

On duty 24 hours a day, the men are kept busy with their regular duties in connection with keeping the city supplied with water. Whysall points out that to have persons calling in all the time would create a nuisance with the result that the weather station would be moved from the water plant to some other location.

Before the station was taken to the plant, it was kept at the Central Fire Station. However, weather authorities said that location was unsuitable because of heat reflected from pavement and nearby buildings.

WEATHER OBSERVATION is one of the extra-curricular activities of workers at the Marion Water Co. pumping plant. Here, Charles Whysall, official observer, checks the amount of rainfall on an automatic gauge which records the exact amount of rain and gives the time it fell. At right is a stick and bucket gauge, which Whysall says can be made by the average private citizen.

TEMPERATURES are recorded on three thermometers. One records the highest temperature during the day, another, the lowest, and the third the current temperature.

The maximum temperature thermometer works the same as a clinical thermometer. An obstruction in the mercury permits it to rise, but not fall back again. It must be shaken in order to be reset.

The minimum thermometer works in a different way. A metal pin-shaped piece in the glass is pushed down by the mercury, and cannot rise again.

Rain is recorded in two ways. One is an automatic rain gauge which records the exact amount of rainfall and time that it fell, while the other is a simple stick and bucket device that just records the amount of fall.

The automatic gauge is operated by a scale and clock mechanism. A round drum inside the mechanism revolves around an inked needle. When rain falls, it is collected in a bucket atop a scale. The weight of the rain causes the needle to rise, marking the amount of rain. Markings on the scale indicate almost to the minute the time when the rain began and how long it lasted.

WHYSALL SAID that it was a simple matter for the amateur weather observer to make a stick and bucket rain gauge. A sheet metal funnel, which is exactly eight inches in diameter at the top is placed over a tube which must be exactly two and one-half inches in diameter, but can be any depth.

By measuring the depth of the water in the tube with an ordinary ruler or yardstick and dividing by 10, the observer can tell exactly how much rain has fallen.

If the water in the tube is 10 inches deep, then one inch of rain will have fallen.

One thing the amateur observer must watch, Whysall warns, is to be sure the gauge is far enough from trees and buildings. He said the gauge should be placed as far away from an obstruction as the height of the obstruction.

Thus, a gauge should be placed at least 40 feet from a 40 foot tall tree or 10 feet from a 10 foot tall building.

DIFFERENT READINGS are taken at different times at the pumping plant. The temperature readings are taken and the thermometers are reset at 7 p.m. each evening, while the rainfall records are compiled at 7 a.m. each morning.

Whysall is well qualified to handle the position of weather observer. He has taken courses in meteorology and is qualified to teach ground classes in weather, and navigation for the Civil Aeronautics Association.

He has trained four men working with him at the water softening plant to take over his duties when he is gone. They are Charles McJunkin, Carl Hughes, Charles Shupe, and Tom Myers.

WEEKLY REPORTS are made to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Columbus. Columbus officials also get a monthy summary of the weather conditions here.

Another weekly report is sent to the U. S. Engineer's office in Huntington, W. Va. From data gathered from several key locations from the Ohio River drainage system, the engineers are able to predict the flow of water in the river and regulate dams to prevent a flood or water shortage along the river.

Snow measurement in winter is a two-fold job. A metal sheet is placed on the ground to measure the height of the snow, and the regular rain gauges are used to determine how much water was contained in the snowfall.

When heavy winds drift the snow, the weather bureau relies on the experience of the observers to determine an average which is used as the official figure.

Adenauer Will Speak To Legion Convention

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will fly to the United States next month to address the national convention of the American Legion Aug. 30 in Washington.

"His visit will be of short duration," the government said today.

It is considered certain, however, that the German leader will confer with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

The chancellor is scheduled also to visit the United States in October to receive an honorary degree from Columbia University in New York.

Man Goes Fishing For Carp, Hooks Cow, Line Snaps

ST. IVES, England (AP)—A man went fishing for carp here and hooked a cow, name of Lucy.

Lucy was grazing among the bulrushes of the River Ouse when she spotted the angler's gaily colored float yesterday. She chewed up and swallowed float, hook, sinker and 50 feet of line.

The angler, out of sight behind a clump of trees, knew he had a big one on, but was unaware it had hooves instead of fins. Other fishermen in the vicinity reported later he made a game attempt to reel Lucy in, but the line broke.

At milking time farmer Jerry Anderson saw a length of line trailing from Lucy's mouth. He pulled out 30 feet of it.

A veterinary extracted another 20 feet, plus the float, hook and sinker, and said Lucy would recover.

Said Anderson:

"I'm sending the vet's bill to the town angling society."

Although water is made of hydrogen and oxygen, fish do not use the oxygen in the chemical combination for breathing but only oxygen dissolved in the water.

Margaret Still Success in Germany

Tour by Princess Is Hurt By Bad Public Relations

By NORMAN LINDHURST

BONN, (NANA) — Princess Margaret Rose's visit to West Germany has convinced a majority of those who saw her that, with a little expert coaching, Margaret could be developed into a 14-carat British public relations asset.

Margaret's admirers in Germany—and they are legion after her visit—are saying that the pretty princess, if given a little reign, could eclipse the record of the Prince of Wales as Britain's good will envoy to the far spots of the world.

As the Prince of Wales, the present Duke of Windsor was Britain's best salesman abroad before he ascended the throne briefly as King Edward VIII.

On her German tour the eye-filling princess radiated charm, graciousness and warmth. This was not as easy as you might think.

IT WAS MARGARET'S first official grand tour outside England. And she had to contend with miserable weather and some incredible blundering by British officials in Germany. But the princess, undaunted, managed to score a considerable personal triumph.

Margaret's great potential value to Britain lies in the fact that, the Communists to the contrary, the whole world loves an authentic, unaffected princess. Particularly a pretty princess with the lively touch.

Despite driving rain which dogged her visit, the princess spurned a coat or even blanket. "Give them to my ladies-in-waiting," she said on several occasions.

And Margaret insisted on carrying out her grand tour, to the last British troop unit, although apprehensive officers repeatedly suggested cancellations.

In other directions, however, the princess was less successful. Although her visit had been billed as a gesture of British-German friendship, the Germans were frozen out once the tour left Bonn.

ANY ALERT AMERICAN press agent would have seen to it that Margaret chatted with at least a few "other ranks," as the British call their army privates and airmen. But the generals and blue-blooded officers monopolized her attention.

When an important American comes to Germany to visit the U. S. force, the brass always encourage him to have at least one meal in an enlisted men's or non-commissioned officer mess. It's a clever tactic, and it pays off.

The stiff and formal British, however, have yet to tumble to the dividends in troop morale that might be reaped from casting Margaret as a sort of sedate pin-up girl for the British forces.

But it was probably with the Germans that the British missed the boat the worst on Margaret's visit. Not only did they refuse to invite a few local burgomeisters to British installations for the princess' visit—a move which would have paid off big in local troop-civilian relations—but they carefully shielded her from any contact with average Germans.

THIS WAS UNFORTUNATE. For despite the waning world fortunes of royalty, the Germans still dearly love royal figures. In fact, it is paradoxical, but true, that royalty today is more popular here than at any time since pre-World War I days. Many Germans probably associate the crown with a happy era of German history.

British errors in public relations during Margaret's tour were particularly evident in the military ball given for the princess at Bad Eilsen by British brass.

This turned out to be a rank-happy, royal-blood affair, with commoners, British and German alike, relegated to the outside. To make matters even more ridiculous, the grounds outside the ballroom were divided into sheep-pen enclosures. Tickets to the enclosures were issued on a rank basis to the British, and the Germans were barred from the grounds.

Even Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express, a strong advocate for the throne, was moved to remark, "It seemed that we British set out to prove to the Germans just how undemocratic we can be."

But the Germans, who grumbled that the British were treating them as a colonial people, like what little they were able to see of Margaret. A German exporter said, "The British complain about the way we are licking them in world trade markets. But if we had a pretty princess like Margaret, we'd show her off all over the globe. She could boost German sales an easy 15 per cent."

A Buckingham Palace official plained, "They're not letting Maggie do her stuff. She could put some life into this tour if they would let her."

Princess Margaret obviously has been toned down considerably since the days, a few years ago, when she drove a sports car at a mad clip over English roads and danced the can-can at the American embassy in London.

FIRST U.S. JET TRANSPORT, HIGH OVER THE CLOUDS. America's first jet transport makes an impressive sight as it whooshes high over the clouds during initial phase of its flight test program at Seattle, Wash. The four-jet Boeing 707 has exceeded 550 mph, and reached altitudes of more than 42,000 feet. It will be a demonstrator for military tanker-transport operations.

Marines Jump Gun On Pacific Maneuver

OKINAWA (AP) — Marine reconnaissance troops sneaked ashore here two days before a recent scheduled maneuver and "captured" the intelligence officer of an Army outfit—but the umpires made them give him back.

The Army officer protested that the "war" hadn't started. The chief umpire agreed.

Canadians Leave For India To Join Truce Commission

MONTREAL (AP)—Canada sent a five-man delegation flying toward New Delhi today to make arrangements for the Indochina Cease-fire Commission with India and Poland, the supervisory group's other two members.

The Canadian Foreign Office announced last night Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's government had accepted the Geneva conference's request that it serve on the commission. Canada was the last of the trio to agree.

India, chairman of the commission, announced earlier this week she had invited Poland and Canada to send representatives to New Delhi to make preliminary arrangements for the group.

Baltimore Policeman Befriends Stray Kitten

BALTIMORE (AP)—A cat-lover in the Central Police Station has some definite ideas about how fellow-employes should treat a stray, dirty white kitten that was given a place to sleep in the station last night.

A hand-lettered sign over a shelf where the kitten slept said:

"Anyone who don't like this cat, ask for a transfer. The cat likes it here—if you don't like it, you leave."

From 194 to 1953, there were 29 fatal boxing injuries in the United States.

Senate Okays Another Batch Of Postmasters

Monroney Objects At Hasty Action on Confirmation of 200

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has confirmed nomination of more than 200 postmasters after an angry protest by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla).

The long list of postmaster appointments had been approved by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee but Senate action was delayed by the long debate on the Atomic Bill.

When Republican leader Knowland (R-Calif) called for usual speedy approval earlier today, Monroney objected, and complained that Democrats and probably Republicans too had not seen the lists before they reached the Senate for confirmation.

Later Monroney learned that the batch of postmasters had been sent to the Senate by the committee at a session before Monroney arrived 20 minutes late.

Monroney said he also had talked with Chairman Carlson and had become convinced better procedures for handling the nominations would be worked out.

2 Minor Mishaps Reported by Police

Two minor, no injury traffic accidents, one of less than $100 damage, were reported today by Marion police. The state highway patrol reported only one minor no injury accident on county highways.

The other city accident was a collision in front of 586 Davids St. involving cars driven by Charles B. James, 20, of 369 Millburn Ave. and Richard R. Currin, 24, of 568 Davids St. Both were traveling north and Currin was turning into a driveway.

Automobile Overturns

A Marion County man escaped injury when his car went off the highway Wednesday night and rolled over, but he was issued a citation by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post. It was the only accident reported by patrolmen in Marion County in the past 24 hours.

Lawrence C. McDaniel, 40, of near Marion was driving north on U. S. Route 23 at 10:50 p.m. when his car went off the road on the left side. It then swerved back across the highway, went off the right side, and rolled into a ditch. The accident happened about one mile north of the intersection with State Route 4, north of Marion.

Extensive damage was done to the left side of the car and it was removed from the scene by a wrecker. McDaniel was ordered to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of driving left of center.

Galion Youngster Hurt When Hit by Automobile

GALION — Pamela Godfrey, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Godfrey of Galion, suffered injuries and was admitted to City Hospital, when she ran into a moving car Wednesday morning.

Pamela suffered lacerations on the back of her left knee, deep scratches on her left leg, and abrasions of the left elbow when she ran into a car driven by Miss Virginia Rensch of Galion. Miss Rensch said she was driving about 10 miles an hour in an alley beside the Godfrey home at 9:15 a.m., when Pamela ran into the car.

The youngster remained in the hospital last night after stitches were taken to close the knee laceration.

Vital to His Program

Ike Lists Six Measures as 'Must' Items

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday listed six parts of his legislative progam whose failure to pass this year he said would be more than bitterly disappointing to him.

Another, a hike in the national debt limit, he termed a necessity. He did not list as still in front of the Senate, as he phrased it, an atomic energy pill which his lieutenants regard as "must" legislation.

Leaving out some of the respects in which these bills fall short of their status:

Farm—A modified system of flexible price supports has been passed by the House, but rejected by the Senate Agricultue Committee. Senate debate may start tomorrow.

Tax revision—The House passed a compromise bill 135-77 late yesterday, and Senate action may send it to the White House today.

Anti-Communist—Action is lagging on various antisubversive bills proposed by Atty. Gen. Brownell. None has yet passed both houses, and prospects are that not more than one or two will be enacted.

Housing—The Senate completed congressional action last night, sending to the White House a measure providing a smaller public housing program than the President asked.

Social security—The house has passed a bill to extend coverage to nearly 10 million persons. The Senate Finance Committee has recommended a trimmed-down version. Senate debate has not been scheduled.

Foreign Aid — Authorization for the current year's program is before the Senate, having passed the House. The House passed yesterday the separate money bill to finance it. This is still in committee in the Senate.

Debt limit—The House passed a year ago a 15-billion-dollar hike in the legal ceiling, now 275 billions. The Senate Finance Committee balked, and still is sitting on the bill. The administration request may be modified.

Atomic energy—The House sent to conference with the Senate yesterday a bill to revise the Atomic Energy Act. Several major differences must be resolved. Senate passage of its version Tuesday night followed a two-week debate which the White House termed a filibuster by opponents.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED

A 1951 model automobile stolen in Toledo July 24 was recovered by Marion police Wednesday. It was found abandoned on E. Fairground St. beside the Ripley Motors garage. Employes called police at 7:45 a.m. Wednesday and reported the car had been parked there since July 26. A check-up disclosed it was one reported stolen in Toledo. It was returned to Toledo.

Probers Say Lobbyists Fail To Obey Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An investigating committee of the Ohio Legislature wants to know why some 150 registered lobbyists failed to file required expense statements.

The group called for explanations by letter from those who failed to comply with the law. Statute requires lobbyists, hired to influence legislation, to file itemized statements with the secretary of state within 30 days after General assembly ends its session.

Committee members, at their second meeting yesterday, said less than half of the 293 lobbyists registered at the last Legislature filed statements. They said some who filed did not itemize receipts and expenditures.

Lobbyists who filed reported $145,448 in receipts and $103,262 in expenditures.

The committee also moved to request Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill to appear at the next committee meeting to discuss strengthening Ohio's lobbying laws.

Statutes provide maximum penalties of $5,000 and two years imprisonment for violators but members said the law is difficult to enforce.

The law does not apply to individuals lobbying on their own behalf, Sen. Raymond E. Hildebrand (D-Lucas) said. He is committee chairman. These individuals should be encouraged to appear before legislative committees, he said.

Somewhere West of Suez

Britain's agreement with Egypt to withdraw its troops from the Suez Canal Zone within 20 months is another belated step toward recognition of nations once held to be untrustworthy. In all probability, British relations with Egypt now will become better than they have been at any time in the 20th century.

Egyptians will have primary responsibility for the security of one of the world's key spots. They no longer can be played off against Britain by native agitators or by agitators sent in from abroad to harass British troops and injure British influence.

Somewhere west of Suez there has come to be a philosophy of strategic withdrawal that may be the ultimate undoing of the Communist trouble-makers who scour the world for places to set the fires of revolt against established authority. There never will be any withdrawals by the Kremlin. It never will voluntarily leave Lithuania, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Manchuria, Latvia, Estonia, Poland, China, northern Korea—or any of the other places that have felt the sting of the dictatorial lash.

The only despotic colonial power on earth today is the Soviet Union. The once great empires are being converted gradually into commonwealths, following the example of the greatest empire of them all—Great Britain.

Memo for an Angel

Perhaps Lieut. Genevieve de Galard-Terraube —"the angel of Bien Dien Phu"—is as puzzled as we are about her sudden prestige in the United States. She is getting the kind of attention once reserved for Channel swimmers and transoceanic aviators.

But we think we have figured it out, Mme. Angel. It is because Americans, Frenchmen and everybody else who cannot be forced to worship the state have a real need to find merit in individuals. What, then, could be more logical than to find it in a loyal and humble nurse who shared the hardships of her besieged countrymen in a military fiasco produced by a gross blunder of international politics?

As our own President Eisenhower was pointing out a few days ago, Mme. Angel, the ordinary people of this world bear no rancor. They are compassionate. They want to live in peace. They need to stage a great moral crusade to secure the spiritual values that bind them together in the brotherhood of man. When you cared for the afflicted at Bien Dien Phu, Mme. Angel, you acted in behalf of all ordinary people who suffer from the hate and violence of the extraordinary people who use violence to attain their goals.

No Sour Grapes

There has been a Miss Universe chosen at Los Angeles and Miss America will be chosen at Atlantic City in a few days. These beautiful creatures gladden the pages of newspapers and brighten news reels, but one can wonder about the pretentious titles bestowed on them.

The symbolic Miss America is a well scrubbed young woman with an attractive hair-do and a strong sense of purpose in being alive. She does not think of herself as a professional or even a semi-professional beauty but confesses to being pleased when she is told that she is good to look at, although the chances are she is more interested in being pleasant to be with than to look at.

The symbolic Miss Universe meets about the same specifications as the symbolic Miss America. This does not deny that the young women chosen to hold these pretentious titles do not meet the specifications. It merely suggests that nothing is so absurd in a world full of fine-looking women as to dish out titles like Miss America and Miss Universe. There are hundreds of thousands of them, not just two.

Farm Problems Pile Up

It is generally agreed that price supports in some form are needed for farmers. But it is interesting to note in congressional debate how the subsidy program itself injects uncertainties into agriculture.

One man-made factors reacting on the law of supply and demand is diversion of acreage from one of the staple parity crops to some other crop, thus upsetting the market for the second crop. By trying to ease a surplus of one crop, the government could induce a surplus in another.

Storage also looms as an extra hazard in the price - support picture. To qualify for crop loans, farmers are responsible for storing the crops, which serve as collateral for the loans. Farmers without storage space have to sell on the unsupported market. In 1953, such sales brought only 82 per cent of parity, whereas government loans guaranteed 90 per cent of parity for stored wheat.

Commodity Credit Corp. offers loans up to 80 per cent of costs for four years at 4 per cent interest to farmers and commercial firms for construction of storage space, plus special tax concessions. The storage construction loans are designed to facilitate crop loans.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has warned, "With average weather, 1954 production—added to all-time record carryovers of former crops—can mean the most serious storage problems we have ever faced."

War on High Seas

By David Lawrence

Red Guilt Clearly Established in Air Attacks

The Red China government has declared war on all airplanes of every nationality on the high seas which travel over waters even beyond the usual territorial limits of three miles from the shore line.

This is comparable to the famous declaration by the Kaiser's government in 1917, which threatened to destroy any shipping it pleased on the high seas — a pronouncement that led to American participation in World War I in defense of the rights of American citizens to travel in international waters on the passenger ships of any nation, neutral or belligerant.

News of the momentous step taken by the Red China government in defiance of international law was revealed for the first time in a speech by Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, to the House of Commons in London.

Eden said that on July 23, after the unarmed British airliner was shot down — admittedly by fighter planes from Red China — 30 miles from Hainan Island in Southeast Asia, the British authorities in Hong Kong notified by radio the Communist airfield at Canton, China, giving details of the number and type of rescue planes that would be engaged in rescue work and in searching the area for survivors.

AN HOUR LATER, Eden now discloses, the Red Chinese replied that, while a British flying boat would be allowed to remain in the area, any other war planes which entered the area would be fired upon without further warning.

Three days later — July 26 — American planes which were protecting rescue vessels and planes were attacked thirteen miles from Hainan, which location is well outside territorial waters. The American planes fired back and shot down two Commuist planes.

This means that the Red China government deliberately ordered the attack and hence that there was nothing accidental about the encounter with the American planes which were engaged in a mission of mercy.

There is no information as to whether the American naval authorities in Southeast Asia received word from the British in Hong Kong concerning the threat to fire on all planes except the one they specified would be immune.

Even if such word had been received, it is doubtful whether the United States government could accept as lawful the assumption by the Red China government of authority to say what ships or planes could or could not travel the waters or the air, respectively, beyond territorial limits.

THE FACT IS the American ships were there on an errand of rescue and that the Red Chinese fliers had already killed three American citizens, including two small children, who were traveling on the British passenger airplane.

The United States historically has never yielded its view that the seas are free.

The British government for many decades has firmly upheld what is known as "the freedom of the seas."

Indeed, the right of armed as well as unarmed ships to approach and land on the shores of countries with which no state of war has been declared is inherent in the relations of governments in time of peace.

The fact that a government is not recognized for diplomatic purposes does not mean it has a right to regard a government which denies recognition as in the same status as one that is at war.

By all the rules of international law, the Red China government has committed an act of war against the United States because the firing on American military planes was deliberate and was the result of an effort to extend authority beyond the territorial limits.

In days gone by governments which have subjected to such an unfriendly act would not necessarily declare war but might land marines or troops in some port as a reprisal until such time as full satisfaction was granted by the offending government.

THERE HAVE BEEN some other incidents close to Siberian territorial waters when American unarmed planes engaged in weather observations have been fired upon but, presumably because no vigorous action was taken in reprisal then, the Communists in Asia evidently believe that none will ever be forthcoming.

So far as Congress is concerned, the unanimity of opinion as revealed in patriotic expressions by leaders of both parties indicates that American officials feel that public opinion will be with them if it becomes necessary to assert American rights in Southeast Asia.

The Peiping radio is filling the air waves with charges about American "aggression" in a desperate effort to confuse the issue in the court of world opinion.

The Communists admitted the first attack, and the fact that they gave orders to fire on any search planes three days later is officially revealed. So evidence of the guilt of the Peiping government is conclusive.

Fire in the Country

By TRUMAN TWILL

We had a barn-burning in our neighborhood last Saturday night, and everybody came. It was half a mile from our place as the crow flies, but we had to go around by the road. We were among the first to see the fire, though, because we could see the barn from the dining room window.

It doesn't take long for a fire to get action in an old wood building full of inflammable material. By the time we had left the car at a safe distance and were within scorching range, it was all over but the wetting down of the outbuildings that hadn't already gone up in flames and the exposed side of the nearby house.

The barn rafters were exposed and ablaze; they had been covered by a shingle roof. All fence posts, electric poles and trees on the windward side for 200 feet were ablaze. The nearest rural fire department had responded in double nothing flat and was doing fine, but there's nothing to do about a barn at that stage of burning except let it burn.

The front yard of the house contained mattresses and assorted furniture, but these were carried back inside as soon as it was evident that the house would be safe, thanks to the favoring wind and a corrugated steel roof. Meanwhile, the first of two water-tank trucks had arrived and the firefighters had begun to use water with a fog nozzle, in addition to chemicals.

When the second tanker arrived, it was too big to cross the rickety bridge over the nearby creek. But it carried a portable engine and pump, and these were soon pulling water out of the creek—enough for two hose lines. The crowd began to disperse. The excitement was over.

The fire department took my eye. This was a typical volunteer outfit, a little better equipped than some. But these were volunteer firemen. They had come a long way to do a dirty, dangerous and uncomfortable piece of work without any prospect of reward, other than their own satisfaction in performing a necessary service.

They were well organized. They knew what they wanted to do and did it without unusual fuss or excitement. They took charge of a situation that has been the traditional terror of country life—the fire that gets out of control and consumes everything. They were prepared, moreover, to do more than they werecalled on to do. They had an emergency truck with oxygen, stretchers and other first-aid equipment. They had short-wave telephone communication with other volunteer departments in nearby neighborhoods.

It was all part of the picture of their unusual service that this was the second night of the annual firemen's festival which produces the funds for their equipment. A large part of their festival crowd followed the fire laddies to the fire. There was no money in that. Instead of having a good time joshing the women and taking money from the men, the firemen wound up their Saturday night with broiled faces, tired bodies and smoke-cured hands.

This was a routine barn fire. No animals were burned. Nobody got hurt. But when it happens, there is nothing routine about a fire in the country—not even with volunteer fire departments using modern equipment and ready to go into action any minute of the day or night. Fire will always be the most appalling of the elements when it goes berserk.

That is why everybody comes, to stand in awe of the angry god, to swallow hard in the presence of his fury, to sympathize with the victims of his cruel wrath and to pay tribute to the heroes who try to hold him at bay.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Captain Pipe Jr., one of the early Indians living in Marion County, was credited with being a "medicine man," and as such cured the child of one of the early settlers which had been bitten by a rattlesnake. Under the influence of liquor, he at first refused to see the child but later relented.

Seeing the child he exclaimed "great pain, very sick." He then laid down by the cradle and snored soundly. Arising in about half an hour, he called for milk which he poured on some roots, gave it to the child and applied some as a poultice to the snake-bite.

He then rocked the child for some time in its cradle and it fell asleep and perspired freely. Seeing this the captain said, "it get well" and soon the child was out of danger.

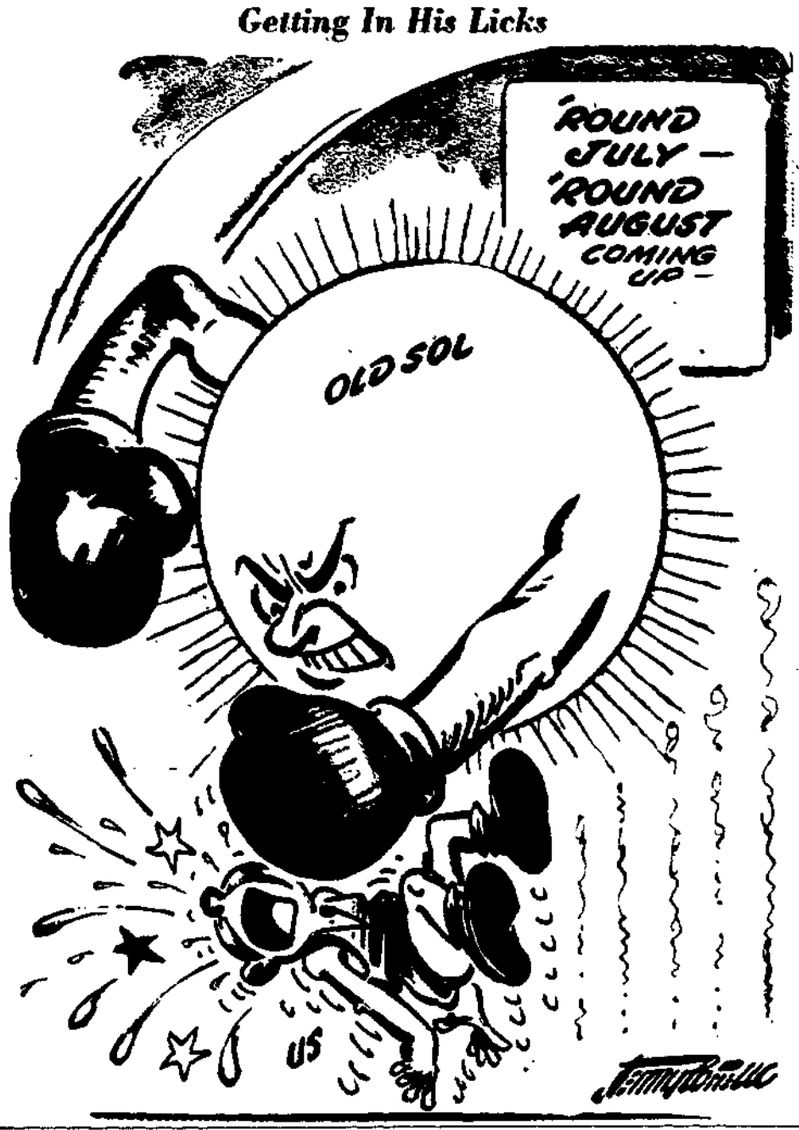
Getting In His Licks



France Would Go It Alone in Germany

By Norman Lyndhurst

BONN

France has warned the United States and Great Britain that if they go ahead with plans to rearm West Germany without French consent, France will withdraw from the Allied High Commission and move the French diplomatic headquarters in West Germany from Bonn to Coblenz.

Official American sources said that the French have expressed willingness to join the United States and Britain in measures to restore German sovereignty in the event the French National Assembly fails to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty but the French served notice they will demand certain provisions be incorporated into any declaration restoring German sovereignty to safeguard French special interests.

The French stated flatly that they would not accept a time limit for German rearmament. On the contrary, France is insisting that certain controls over German industry must be continued despite the fact that West Germany theoretically is to be made a "sovereign" nation.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS said the French government's warning on the German sovereignty issue had been conveyed to American High Commissioner James B. Conant and British High Commissioner Sir Frederick Hoyer-Millar by French High Commissioner Andre Francois-Poncet. Francois-Poncet left no doubt in the minds of his two colleagues on the Allied High Commission that France is determined to wage a last-ditch battle against German rearmament without specific French approval.

Francois-Poncet also bluntly warned Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that, if the United States and Britain took unilateral action in the matter of German sovereignty, France would be compelled to continue the Allied occupation of Germany alone. This would mean, the French high commissioner pointed out to Adenauer, that the French zone of occupation would be separated from the Anglo-American occupation zones, which in turn would have fatal consequences for Franco-German relations.

Should Germany refuse to pay the occupation costs to the French after an Anglo-American restoration of German sovereignty, France, Francois-Poncet continued, would be compelled to enforce her claims by other means, possibly by retaliatory measures.

Since the French regard the American position on German rearmament as virtually unalterable, they are concentrating their arguments on the British. Francois-Poncet has held several conversations recently with Hoyer-Millar in an efofrt to split Britain from the Anglo-American solid front on German rearmament.

THE FRENCH high commissioner told Hoyer-Millar that the Mendes-France government was not opposed to the restoration of German sovereigty, since the French realized that ultimately they would be forced to bow to overpowering political pressure on this issue. Francois-Poncet then set as the price for French agreement to a restoration of German sovereignty two conditions.

First, the question of German rearmament should be completely dissociated from the sovereignty issue. Second, that the three western powers should continue tight control over German industry. Francois-Poncet told the British high commissioner that France, in particular, wanted the continued control of German research in projects of military interest.

The French high commissioner said that France was greatly concerned by evidence that the United States intends to force a showdown on German rearmament this fall.

The French take it for granted that Adenauer's ultimatum to France to ratify the EDC or accept the creation of a German national army was handed down only after consultation with the U.S. France also is alarmed over preparations being rushed in Bonn to supply the Germans with an American military mission to assist German rearmament.

This mission originally was to consist of 60 officers and technicians. Latest plans, however, call for increasing the size of the mission to 150.

THE FRENCH also have been nettled at the lack of interest shown by the U.S. and Britain during the last two years in the Allied Military Security Board at Coblenz. This "watchdog" organization on German militaristic tendencies has become an almost exclusively French institution in the last year. The U.S. and Britain regard the Security Board as overtaken by events, but the French continued to regard its functions with great seriousness.

The U.S and Britain see no sense in checking down to the last plant to make certain the Germans are not turning out any rifle barrels on the sly, while in Bonn —40 miles away—the two nations are pressing the Germans to speed up preparations for rearmament. The French doggedly demand that a tight watch be kept on every major industrial establishment in West Germany.

At French insistence, the board is still relentlessly following Allied directives harking back to the Potsdam-pact era but in the U.S. High Commission headquarters in Bonn, American production experts are pushing the Germans to map plans for a quick conversion of German industry to military production.

IN COBLENZ the French representatives on the Security Board are assiduously keeping a look-out for Germans training secretly with old rifles in the woods and for machine tools capable of boring a machine-gun barrel.

American officials are outspoken in branding the French performance on the military security board as quixotic. At a time when the U.S. was pouring millions of dollars into the German economy, the French were using the Military Security Board as an instrument to block the reconstruction of two Ruhr steel companies to add 1,000,000 tons yearly to Germany's output. The steel in question, at the time, was urgently needed in the western defense program.

Groucho Routine

Ever since Groucho Marx got married, taking Eden Hartford, a young woman of 20 as his bride, we have been wondering about the proposal leading up to the event. Groucho has become so accustomed to the "Bet Your Life" TV routine that he couldn't quite drop it anywhere, we fancy. And we imagine the greatest of the question askers must have popped this most important of all questions along this line:

"Welcome to the program and would you repeat your name?"

"Eden."

"How's Tony?"

"Eden is my first name. The last is Hartford."

"Oh yes, I knew your sisters, New Britain and Farmington. It's nice to have you on this program. Have you followed it regularly? And, by the way, did you ever see in musical comedies?"

"No, that was my mother."

"That's enough of that. Remember, I do all the insulting on this hour. Incidentally, I'm changing the name of this program."

"Wheat are you changing it to?"

"Bride and Groom. Well, you know my routine. I ask questions and there's no limit to what you can win. You may even win me."

"Is that good?"

"How about 'Great romances of history'?"

"No ad libbing, my girl. What category do you choose?"

"You mean there were OTHERS!!!"

"I do."

"That wins you fifty dollars. You just said the magic word. In fact the two magic words. 'I do.' They will be especially magic when the justice of the peace takes over. I now come to the main question. Will you be my wife? No prompting!"

"Would you repeat that question?"

"Don't you understand it?"

"Yes, but any girl loves to hear it."

"Very well. I repeat it for the jackpot. . . . Will you marry Groucho Marx?"

"Suppose I give the wrong answer?"

"That'll cost me a broken heart. And it will be the first one broken over a national TV network, except for the Johns Hopkins program. Come, let's not pretend we haven't rehearsed this script. Will you be my bride or do I have to go on depending on commercials for happiness?"

"I think my answer is 'yes.'"

"If it isn't, then our script writers have made a terrible error. Okay, you win the master of ceremonies, cigar and all. And it's been nice winning you, too. Do you want me wrapped to take out or will you have me sent?"

"I'll have you sent."

"Go over to the license bureau, I'll be there soon. And tell them GROUCHO SENT YOU!"

Lemon or Mint Syrup Flavor Ice Tea

Lime, Orange Also May Be Tried To Sweeten Cool Summer Drink

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's hard to get a good glass of iced tea—if you like real tea flavor and not just ambercolored water Usually the brew is not strong enough and it is diluted with too much ice, or if the brew is strong enough, it is still overdiluted

Here is our own favorite method of making iced tea We like it because it is quick and gives uniform flavor.

WE USE THREE level teaspoons of a fine grade of black tea and two cups of water for every two 16-ounce glass servings Yes, we like a really tall drink! First we put the required amount of water on to boil; as soon as the water boils, we pour it over the tea leaves in a teapot and let it brew exactly five minutes by the clock

Then we stir the tea leaves once and strain the tea into the glasses If your glasses aren't heavy, put a teaspoon in the glass before you pour.

Next we put ice cubes in each glass—leaving room for dilution—give the tea and ice a whirl with a long-handled spoon, and serve at once If the tea stands a bit and clouds, add a tablespoon of boiling water for each serving and it will clear But honestly we think there is too much fuss about tea clouding—especially since we learned that fine teas are more likely to cloud than poorer grades!

BECAUSE the members of our family and many of our friends like their iced tea sweetened and flavored with lemon or lime, in summer we often make up a batch of lemon or lime tea syrup and keep it in the refrigerator At serving time, we add syrup to taste to each glass of tea, or let people help themselves You can make other flavors of tea syrup, too—orange or mint, for instance

FOUR ICE TEA FLAVORS—lemon, lime, orange, mint.

LEMON OR LIME TEA SYRUP

Ingredients. 1 cup sugar, ¾ cup water, lemon or lime rind, ¼ cup lemon or lime juice

Method: Put sugar and water in a small saucepan Cut rind thinly away from one-half a lemon or lime so it is membrane-free, slice into very thin even strips Add rind to saucepan with lemon or lime juice Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves Bring quickly to a boil, boil 5 minutes without stirring Cool and refrigerate in tightly covered jar Makes about 1¼ cups In serving, garnish syrup with thin slice of lemon or lime

Orange Syrup: Use 1 cup sugar, ½ cup water, thin strips of membrane-free orange rind from one-half of an orange, ½ cup orange juice Skim off any bits of foam Makes about 1¼ cups In serving, garnish syrup with thin slice of orange.

MINT SYRUP: Use 1 cup sugar 1 cup water and 3 tablespoons chopped fresh mint Chill and strain Makes about 1 cup In serving, garnish syrup with mint sprig.

BASKETS of pink and white gladioli in a background of greenery was the setting for the wedding of Miss Joanne June Hofstetter and Cpl. David R. Ulrich, Sunday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church. Tapers lighted the altar for the 2:30 o'clock ceremony and family pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles J. Hofstetter of 157 Brenner Ct. and the late Mr. Hofstetter, and Cpl. Ulrich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Ulrich of 606 Delaware Ave.

Mrs. David Ulrich

Rev. H. L. Olewiler, pastor, officiated for the ceremony. Mrs. C. L. Davis was the organist and vocalist was Mrs. Eleanor Smith.

The bride's brother, Robert J. Hofstetter of Barberton, gave her in marriage. Her gown was of froth of Swiss organdy outlined with embroidered white roses. A pictorial neckline topping the basque bodice extended into cap sleeves and the full skirt ended in a chapel train. A tiara of pearls held the finger-tip veil of French illusion and her long mitts extended in points over her hands. The cascading bridal bouquet of tiny pinks and chrysanthemums was centered with an orchid and she wore the bridegroom's gift, a single strand seed pearl necklace and matching earrings.

MISS ROBERTA HOFSTETTER of Barberton, niece of the bride, was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Suzie Simmons, Miss Joan Tobin and Mrs. Joe Lawrence. Karen Hofstetter of Barberton, also a niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore princess styled gowns of silk taffeta, with ballerina-length skirts worn over hoops. Completing their costumes were half-crowns of velvet and tiny rosebuds matching the color of their gowns, and their bouquets were shirred pinks and chrysanthemums and greenery. Miss Hofstetter's gown was pink and the bridesmaids wore pastel green. The flower girl's gown, a replica of the bride's, was of white Swiss organdy, and she carried an identical bridal bouquet only smaller.

Charles F. Ulrich served as best man for his brother and ushers were Buddy Kneisley, Gene Zahn and Larry McClure.

The reception was in the church parlors. The bridal table held a five-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and the flowers were gladioli. The bride's mother was costumed in a beige shantung dress with which she wore black accessories. Mrs. Ulrich wore a navy sheer organza dress and chose pink and black accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

ASSISTING at the reception were Miss Betty Plantz, Miss Judy Schill, Mrs. Richard Seiter and Mrs. Charles F. Ulrich.

For their wedding trip through Southern Ohio the bride wore a pink handkerchief gingham dress, white accessories and her wedding orchid. They will make their home at Oceanside, Calif. where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Marine Corps.

The bride was graduated from Harding High School in 1952 and has been employed as a secretary at Tecumseh Products Co. The bridegroom was graduated from Harding High School in 1951.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ashby, Mr. and Mrs. William Schuthy and Mrs. Z. O. Emohizer of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Edler, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edler and Mrs. Sylvia Edler of Galion; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hofstetter, Roberta and Karen Hofstetter of Barberton, and Upper Sandusky.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ulrich were hosts for the rehearsal party Saturday evening at Hotel Harding. Miss Hofstetter's gift to the maid of honor was a manicure set and she gave the bridesmaids musical jewel boxes. A bridegroom from Story Book Dolls was the flower girl's gift. Cpl. Ulrich gave the best man and ushers billfolds.

Entertaining for the bride before her marriage were Mrs. Joe Lawrence who gave a personal shower at her home on Harding Highway E. and Mrs. Delores Knickle of near Marion, was hostess for a miscellaneous shower.

PICNICS, INSTEAD of business sessions, are on the calendar for members of Iota Alpha chapter, Pi Omicron sorority, during the summer vacation. The July meeting was a picnic at the home of Mrs. Howard Ryan of 1216 E. Center St.

Miss Mary Katherine Ryan of Cleveland was a guest. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. D. J. Sansotta and Mrs. J. R. Lea. Next month Mrs. Paul Eshman of 186 Kensington P will be hostess for a picnic on the 24th.

—:—

Mrs. LeRoy Bowers and Mrs. Stanley Thomas entertained with a personal shower complimenting Mrs. Leland Thorpe, Friday evening at the Bowers home on the Marion-Cardington Rd.

Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Franklin Gorenflo, Mrs. Morris Matteson and Mrs. Gerta Willmeth.

Guests included Mrs. Thorpe, Mrs. Franklin Gorenflo, Mrs. Bernard Cochrel, Mrs. Donald Gorenflo, Mrs. Claude Bosh, Miss Patty Bosh, Mrs. Edward Gross, Mrs. Morris Matteson, Miss Glenna Winfield of Marion, Mrs. Paul Force, Mrs. Earl Rupp of Edison; Mrs. Paul McChesney of Beech; Mrs. Gerta Willmeth of Springfield; Miss Barbara Heimlich of Cardington and Miss Joyce Bowers.

Church Activities

A Sunday night activity of the Waldo St. Paul's Lutheran Berean Bible Class was on ice cream party at the church. The committee in charge of tables was composed of Mr. and Mrs. John Laucher Jr. and Mrs. and Mrs. James Ward. Colored slide pictures of the class picnic and scenes of Oregon and California were shown by Arles Peak and Frederick Bauer. Members voted to join the congregation at the Lutheran Memorial Camp near Fulton Aug. 29 for open-air church services in the morning followed by a picnic at noon. Committee from the class named to work with a committee from the church on arrangements includes Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Reiff.

SEAT SWAP

WESTPORT, Conn. (UP)—Peter E. Bockiaro and Dorothy Wasik were arrested by a policeman who said they swapped seats in a moving automobile when they saw him coming. Bockiaro was charged with operating while his license was under suspension and Miss Wasik with reckless driving.

THE GOSPELAIRES, trio and pianist from Central Bible Institute of Springfield, Mo., will be in Marion tomorrow night for a service at the Assembly of God Church at 624 Herman St. Their program will include singing of Gospel numbers, instrumental selections, and a message. Time of the public service will be 7:30, Rev. John W. Blair, pastor, announced.

Engineer Nabbed, Offered $100 To Get Better Airbase Job

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An electrical engineer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base yesterday was arrested by the FBI. He was charged with attempting to bribe his way into a better job.

He will be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner George S. Collins at Springfield.

M. W. McFarlin, FBI agent in charge of the Cincinnati district, said Vladimir Stephen Kosloff, 57, was arrested as he left work at the base yesterday.

He was charged with offering $100 as an inducement to get a better job at more pay. Name of the civilian personnel employe he allegedly tried to bribe was not disclosed.

Kosloff has been employed at the base since April 1941.

BOX PLAY

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago housewife believes in the saying that when children don't play in a park, they play in the street. Mrs. Shirley R. Nemerow noted a sandbox in a park near her home. But no sand and the youngsters were spurning the box. She called it to the attention of park officials. They filled the box with sand and now the little boys and girls are staying off the street and out of danger of passing automobiles.

Marion Motorist Fined After Mishap at Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY—Junior Lee Collins, 24, of Marion, was fined $10 and costs in Justice of the Peace L. C. Schoenberger's court here Wednesday morning on charges of failing to yield the right of way.

The charge resulted from an accident at the intersection of county roads 115 and 45, southwest of here. Tuesday. Collins was driving a Nickles Bakery truck of Marion which crashed into an auto operated by Chester C. Grossman, 37, of near Upper Sandusky.

Grossman's auto, a 1951 model, was demolished. He was treated at Wyandot Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

The Sea of Galilee, in Palestine, is 14 miles long and 8 miles wide and is 680 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

New Camera Takes 30-Mile Pictures

THE ARMY'S NEW LONG-RANGE camera can pick up details many miles away It was developed for use when aerial photographs can't be taken.

UPPER Twenty-six miles from camera (star on map), we see the Empire State building (3) clearly Brooklyn and Coney Island (2) form the base of New York skyline Sandy Hook lighthouse (1) is four miles away. Exposure 1/50th at f 12 5 on infra-red film

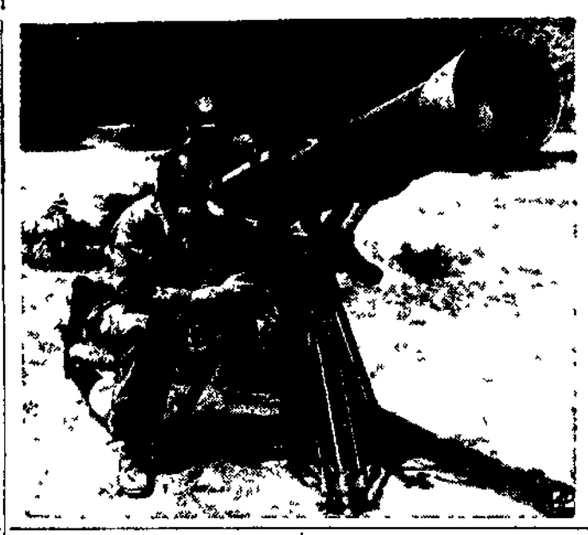
LOWER Here's the Army's new 100 inch camera which pierces atmospheric haze to show landscapes up to 30 miles away in sharp detail

Designed by U.S. Signal Corps, Device Uses Infra-Red Film

By IRVING DESFOR
Associated Press Writer

Talking of candid cameras you can't beat the new one just unveiled by the Signal Corps Engineering Lab at Ft. Monmouth, N J for long distance snooping on land With its special 100-inch telephoto lens it can record the scenery in clear detail up to 30 miles away, piercing haze and atmosphere with new, fast infrared film

Did I say candid camera, meaning inconspicuous? Confronted close-up, the Signal Corps Peeping Tom is anything but' It weighs 120 pounds, is eight feet long with sunshade and takes two men to carry However when shooting pictures from a distance of 30 miles—or 20, 10 5 and even 1 mile—the men and camera are definitely inconspicuous.



OF COURSE IT was developed for the Army with military use in mind Detailed pictures of a battlefield or enemy territory could be taken with this camera when aerial photo flights were grounded or too dangerous The height of the camera site and atmospheric conditions would determine how much of the 30 mile range would be recorded

The camera's nearest point of focus is 1 500 feet and covers an area 105 feet wide At a distance of 11½ miles (the last setting on the range scale before infinity) it covers a field of view which is 3-5 of a mile wide

The special four-element lenses were ground to specifications, weigh 40 pounds assembled with a speed rating of f -12 5 They measure two feet from front to back, have a diameter of 9½ inches and cover about a four degree angle The 100 inches is the distance from optical lens center to negative plane being focussed on at infinity.

THE CAMERA has a 5 x 7 inch back using cut film plates or a roll film adapter with 30 exposure rolls Any number of exposures can be sliced off the roll film with a built-in knife for immediate processing Shooting continues with the remainder of the roll

The shutter has ten speeds ranging from the fastest, 1-200th second to 1 second time and bulb exposures The viewfinders are terrestial telescopes with an outline showing the field of view Focussing is accomplished by moving the back of the camera into position instead of the lens, because of its weight and size

Besides facts and figures, how about actual photos' The Signal Corps hauled its new camera out on location in the New York and Washington areas and came back with pictures I've seen prints of landmarks that were from 14 to 26 miles from the camera location that were clear and easily identifiable It's another remarkable achievement in the field of photography.

Driver Unhurt At Bucyrus as Train Hits Car

BUCYRUS — A car was demolished in a train-auto accident here last night with the motorist escaping serious injury when he jumped seconds before his vehicle was struck by the oncoming train Damage to a residence resulted when the crash threw the car into the house

The accident occurred about 8 15 when Donald Warnecke 22, of near Columbus Grove was driving toward the N Poplar St Pennsylvania Railroad crossing and turned right into W Galen St His car stalled in the path of the eastbound Trailblazer, a wheel caught in the tracks

Impact of the crash threw the 1950 sedan into the home of Alfred Niedemier at 123 W Galen St. causing damage to the porch

Warnecke suffered a bruised right hip and contusions when he jumped He was treated at Bucyrus City Hospital, then was released The train was delayed 15 minutes Crossing flasher signals were working at the time of the accident
